It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

INTRODUCTION.

THE publication of this history has been undertaken for a threefold purpose: first, to preserve records that it would have been impossible to secure in a few years; secondly, to show how important a place the School has filled, and is filling, in the educational work of the State; and, thirdly, to create a new interest among the graduates for the School and for one another, by strengthening the ties of those early, school-day friendships that have grown weak by time and distance, and the cares and burdens of life.

The historians of the new school have entered upon a higher plane of historical work than their predecessors. They believe that the forces that move the world are to be found in the lives of the many, rather than in the lives of a few so-called great men; hence they believe in the careful preservation of the history of individuals. With them, "history is the essence of innumerable biographies," and they prefer facts to generalizations. So, as a matter of historical interest, it has seemed desirable to collect and put into permanent form as many facts concerning the School and its graduates as possible.

As to the second consideration, it seems proper at the close of the first quarter-century to record in a modest way the achievements of the graduates. It is a duty that the School owes to itself and to the State.

How many of the graduates, as they have realized that time and distance have sadly weakened those ties of friendship that they once prized so highly, must have felt the sentiment of Prince Henry in the Golden Legend,—

"Come back! ye friendships long departed!
That like o'erflowing streamlets started,
And now are dwindled, one by one,
To stony channels in the sun!"

What the yearly visit to the parental roof, and the frequent family letters will do for kindred, it is hoped this book, in some measure, will do for those who own a common Alma Mater.

The historian wishes to express his sincere thanks to the graduates for many kind words of encouragement in his undertaking, and for the generally prompt and satisfactory replies to his inquisitorial communications. He regrets that many, however, have not given more information, and that, in a few cases, the record given has been very meager. In the case of some, this has doubtless arisen from not comprehending the scope of the work, in others, from a mistaken feeling of having accomplished nothing worthy of record, and, in a very few cases, from indifference. As it is, he has heard directly from all but five of the living graduates, and from friends he has ascertained the address, and some facts in regard to the five delinquents. In the case of deceased graduates, he has, in all but a few cases, received quite a full report.

One thing has been particularly noticeable in the reports,—the extreme modesty of the graduates in speaking of what they have accomplished. The historian cannot recall a single instance of self-praise. There has been such an utter lack of commendatory adjectives that he has been often tempted to supply them, but believes he has resisted the temptation, except in a few cases where he was sure from a personal acquaintance with the older graduates that they were deserved. For obvious reasons, he has resisted that temptation in respect to those graduating since 1883.

Beginning with the Second Class of 1884, records have been kept showing what schools the pupils had attended before coming to the Normal, and their teaching experience, both before and during the course. The historian regrets that he cannot give such information in regard to the earlier graduates, as the early advantages of the pupil often furnish a key to his work after leaving the Normal. If he were to gather material for another work like this, he would ask for such information. And while he has but little expectation of getting it, he cannot help saying that it would be a valuable part of the history of the School (to be used without doubt in some future history), if every graduate would send him a statement of what schools he attended other than the district schools, and how many terms, before coming to the Normal, and how many weeks he taught before, during, and after his course, and in what places. He sincerely hopes that this history will be followed in a few years by one much more complete.

It has often been charged that the graduates do not fulfil their pledges to the State. In looking over this history, it will be found that such cases of dereliction are rare. It must be remembered that some have graduated in less than two years, some have paid tuition, and very many have taught during the course, which should be credited to them.

It is much to be regretted that we cannot have a history of that large number who have spent from one to five terms in the School, but for various reasons have not graduated. They number more than two-thirds of all who have entered, and probably the aggregate of their teaching experience in the State exceeds that of the graduates. A few of them, who were so fortunate as to marry graduates, will find their names embalmed in these pages. We wish there was some way of doing the same by all.

One word in regard to the name of the School. It was organized as the Western State Normal School. In 1879 another school was established in the western part of the State at Gorham. In the revision of the Revised Statutes in 1883, the revisers took the liberty to apply "western" to the Gorham School, and "northern" to this. This change naturally created some confusion and injustice, which the Trustees corrected by naming each school from the town in which it is located; consequently this School is now styled the Farmington State Normal School.

No one can be more painfully aware of the imperfections of this work than the historian. He has, however, used great care to avoid errors, and will esteem it a favor if anyone finding errors or omissions will immediately inform him. He had hoped to include the pictures of some of the assistant teachers, notably those of longest experience, but a failure to receive a photograph from one of those longest connected with the School seemed to make it necessary to leave out all.

In conclusion, the historian wishes to express his acknowledgments to many who have helped lighten his work, especially to two of his teachers, Miss Hortense M. Merrill, '81, and Miss Ardelle M. Tozier, '87, and to the printers, Messrs. Knowlton, McLeary & Co., for the superior manner in which they have done their work.

He also wishes to gratefully acknowledge the support and encouragement he has received from the Alumni since he became connected with the School, and assures them that their hearty good will is more than reciprocated. He feels that the School has a life and history of its own, which, in a measure, may be given shape by its teachers, but yet is independent of them, and should be carefully cherished. Changes of name, or teachers, or fortunes, should not be allowed to dwarf that life, or endanger the unity of the graduates.

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL.

Hon. William G. Crosby of Belfast, the accomplished Secretary of the first Board of Education of Maine, was the first person to call attention, in an official capacity, to the need of a Normal School in our State. This he did in his first report in 1847. For seventeen years he and his successors urged upon the Legislature the importance of establishing a "training school" for teachers. Many of the reports show a careful study of the subject and are eloquent presentations of the claims for professional training, and, looking back upon those days, the wonder grows that the establishment of the schools was delayed so long.

In 1857, the Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, State Superintendent, reports that, "there have been, at one time, not less than twenty teachers from Maine in the different Normal Schools of Massachusetts."

The teachers of Franklin County at their convention that year passed the following resolutions which may be of interest :

Resolved: That the interests of our common schools, and the teachers having them in charge, not only require the fostering care of the State, but most imperatively demand the immediate establishment of that long neglected source of improvement, a State Normal School; but that in its endowment, no partisan or political interest should be observed, and that no locality should be the object of favor, unless a disposition be manifested to return ample equivalent for all benefits bestowed; and as teachers of Franklin County, we would respectfully, yet earnestly, request the early attention of our present Legislature to the endowment and establishment of such an institution.

At last the demand became so imperative that it could no longer be ignored by the Legislature, and in 1860 a law was passed establishing Normal Departments in eighteen academies in the State. The academies in Franklin and Piscataquis counties declined to enter into the arrangement. The academy at Presque Isle advertised for a Normal class, but no pupils presented themselves. So few were enrolled in Lincoln Academy that after one term the trustees asked to be released from the arrangement. In the fourteen academies that supported Normal Departments there were reported as "enjoying the advantages of the instruction afforded at these schools," 457 pupils in the spring term, and 438 in the fall term. These numbers, of course, refer to those who were enrolled in the Normal Departments. But exactly two-thirds of them were reported as "pursuing other studies." In his report for 1861, the Hon. E. P. Weston says of this experiment :

While the scheme need not be pronounced a failure, it may be safely charged with a fatal incapacity to meet the demands of the age and the State. * * * We need, then, institutions of ampler means and more commanding character to educate the teachers of our public schools. * * * By recent inquiry I find that there have been connected with the four Normal Schools of Massachusetts during the past year, thirty Normal pupils from Maine; and that, too, in face of the fact that we have had fifteen Normal Schools at home !

This plan was tried for another year with no better success, and was repealed by the Legislature of 1862, which passed an order "requiring the Superintendent of Common Schools to make certain inquiries and investigations looking to the establishment of a more efficient system."

This report, together with a memorial from the Trustees of Farmington Academy prepared at the instance of the Principal, Mr. A. P. Kelsey, was, in the regular order of business, referred to the Committee on Education. After careful deliberation and several public hearings, that committee made the following unanimous report :

The Committee on Education, to which was referred the memorial of the Trustees of Farmington Academy, asking for aid in establishing a Normal School; also, the report of the Superintendent of Common Schools on the subject of Normal Schools; have had the same under consideration, and report :

Your Committee are satisfied that one of the most urgent requisites to the success of our public schools at the present time, is a larger supply of well-qualified teachers. We believe that a very large portion of all the money expended for school purposes is lost through the incompetency of many of the teachers employed.

To prevent this great waste in future we look to no single remedy. School officers must keep a more vigilant watch at the school-house door against the entrance of unqualified teachers. Candidates for this important work should be impressed with the importance of making larger attainments, if they expect to find employment in the profession.

But we believe that the State, as such, has a duty in the premises which it cannot longer neglect with justice to this great public interest.

While the State provides by law that each town shall raise money for the support of public schools, according to the population; and while it grants additional bounties, from the bank and other funds, to aid in sustaining these schools;—the whole expenditure for school purposes amounting to more than $700,000 annually—is it right or wise for the State to neglect the most important means of rendering this expenditure in the highest degree conducive to the great object for which the money is expended?

No one doubts that we need a large additional number of well-educated teachers for our primary and higher schools. And some may claim that we have the means, in our academies and colleges, of supplying the demand. But while we acknowledge the very important service rendered by these institutions, and must look to them for similar service in time to come, your Committee are convinced that there is need of institutions which shall make it their grand aim to train teachers for their special vocation. Our academies and higher seminaries have their various educational work to accomplish. They are training young men for college and for the various business of life.

The teacher, like the student in law, or medicine, or divinity, needs an especial training for his professional duties. This training it is the intention of the Normal School to impart. It aims to teach men and women the art of teaching. It seeks to make them familiar with the best methods of instruction and government; to impart a knowledge of the philosophy of dealing with youthful minds, developing and disciplining their mental and moral powers aright. The great work of the teacher, the Normal School assumes, cannot be accomplished without much painstaking and special appliances.

Normal, or training schools, are not an experiment. They have existed in Europe for more than a hundred years, and in this country for nearly a quarter of a century. In Prussia a Normal School was organized in 1735. In this country the first Normal School was opened in July, 1839, at Lexington, Mass.; two others were opened in the course of the following year. New York followed with her State Normal School in 1845; Connecticut in 1848; Michigan in 1849; Rhode Island in 1854; New Jersey in 1855; Illinois in 1857; Pennsylvania opened two schools in 1860-61; Minnesota one in 1860; and Iowa, in connection with her State University, established a Normal School in 1860.

The British Provinces—Canada East and Canada West, and New Brunswick—have also their Normal Schools; those in the Canadas being very liberally endowed and efficient institutions.

The general success of these schools has been ample and gratifying. The testimony of school officers in all parts of Massachusetts, in response to a circular issued by Ex-Governor Boutwell, while Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education, was almost unanimous to the effect that the system of normal instruction is having a very powerful influence in elevating the standard of instruction and improving the common schools of that State. Similar testimony is given in response to similar inquiries made in New Jersey and Connecticut.

Your Committee are therefore unanimous in the conviction that Maine should put herself upon a level with other States, in this respect, by inaugurating at an early day, within her own borders, a system of instruction which has proved elsewhere of the highest value to the cause of popular instruction.

With this intent we submit the following bill.

GEORGE B. BARROWS, for the Com.

With the foregoing Report the Committee presented a Bill, which with a few amendments made on its passage, was enacted in the following form :

An Act for the Establishment of Normal Schools.

WHEREAS, the interests of public education are suffering by reason of incompetent teachers, and

WHEREAS, Normal Schools have proved in other States a very efficient means of furnishing teachers better qualified for their work,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows:

SECTION 1. Three persons whom the Governor and Council shall appoint, shall constitute a commission to make the necessary investigations, and to locate, subject to the approval of the Governor and Council, two Normal Schools, one in the eastern and one in the western part of the State, at such places as will best suit the public convenience; provided, that the citizens of such places, or the trustees of any institutions there existing, will furnish without expense to the State, suitable buildings for the instruction of two hundred pupils for the term of at least five years, and provided that such locations be not within the limits of any incorporated city.

SECT. 2. Said schools are established for the purposes and shall be conducted upon principles herein set forth.

First—They shall be thoroughly devoted to the work of training teachers for their professional labors.

Second—The course of study shall include the common English branches in thorough reviews, and such of the higher branches as are especially adapted to prepare teachers to conduct the mental, moral and physical education of their pupils.

Third—The art of school management, including the best methods of government and instruction, shall have a prominent place in the daily exercises of said schools.

Fourth—Said Normal Schools, while teaching the fundamental truths of Christianity, and the great principles of morality, recognized by statute, shall be free from all denominational teachings and open to persons of different religious connections, on terms of entire equality.

SECT. 3. The Commissioners shall be guided in locating said schools by the following considerations:

First—The size and condition of the buildings.

Second—The character of the community and healthfulness of the location.

Third—The means of access by railroad or otherwise.

Fourth—Facilities for obtaining board, and cost of same.

Fifth—Extent and character of library, apparatus and cabinets offered for the use of said school.

Sixth—Opportunity for experimental or model schools.

SECT. 4. The course of study shall occupy two years with suitable vacations; and together with the terms of admission shall be arranged by the Superintendent of Schools, subject to the approval of the Governor and Council.

SECT. 5. Any student who shall complete the course of study prescribed, and otherwise comply with the regulations of the school, shall receive a diploma certifying the same.

SECT. 6. Applicants for admission to said schools shall be sixteen years of age, if females, and seventeen, if males; shall signify their intention to become teachers, and shall come under obligation to teach in our own State for at least one year, and in case they receive the diploma mentioned in section five, two years after they shall have graduated; and on these conditions shall be received without charge for tuition. Each pupil shall pay one dollar per session for incidental expenses of the school.

SECT. 7. Said schools shall be put in operation in August, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, or as soon thereafter as the necessary arrangements can be made therefor, due notice of the time of commencement and the terms of admission being given in the public newspapers of that section of the State in which said schools are severally located, four weeks at least before the time of commencing.

SECT. 8. To sustain said schools during the period of five years, four half townships of the public lands are hereby appropriated; the same to be sold in whole or in part, at such times and in such manner as shall be deemed best by the Governor and Council, acting as a board of trust and management in the premises; and before these lands shall be sold they shall be advertised six months in a newspaper in Bangor, Augusta and Portland, then sold at public auction to the highest bidder; and the avails of such sales shall be deposited in the State Treasury to the credit of the Normal School fund thus created.

SECT. 9. It shall be the duty of the Superintendent of Common Schools to act as Superintendent of the Normal Schools; to employ teachers and lecturers for the same, and with the consent of the Governor and Council to provide such apparatus and other facilities for conducting the operations of the schools as may be deemed necessary; the whole arrangements to be approved by the Governor and Council, who shall audit all accounts for expenditures in this behalf, and draw their warrant for the payment of the same when approved.

SECT. 10. This act shall take effect when approved by the Governor.

[Approved March 25, 1863.]

After an earnest discussion in both houses, in which the friends of the measure successfully answered the objections of its opponents, the act was passed by a vote of thirteen to seven in the Senate, and sixty-three to twenty-nine in the House, and was approved by the Governor, Hon. Abner Coburn, March 25, 1863.

To carry out the provisions of the first section of this act, the Governor appointed the following Commissioners: Philip Eastman of Saco, Henry Williamson of Stark, and Ephraim Flint of Dover, who immediately entered upon their duties, inviting and receiving proposals, and visiting those places from which they had received proposals. Propositions to furnish the necessary accommodations were received from the Trustees of Paris Academy, Gorham Seminary, Farmington Academy and Litchfield Academy for the location of the Western School. After carefully considering the advantages of each they made the following report:

Each locality that we have visited possesses its own peculiar advantages above the others in some of these particulars; and in comparing them and balancing the one against the others, we have had no little solicitude that we might arrive at a judicious and satisfactory conclusion. After a very careful and deliberate, and we trust, impartial investigation, having reference to the considerations prescribed in the Act, for our guidance, and the promotion of the very important objects desired to be secured, we have decided to locate one of the said Normal Schools at Hampden, and the other at Farmington; subject to the approval of the Governor and Council; provided, the Trustees of Hampden Academy, at that place, and the Trustees of Farmington Academy, at that place, shall fulfil, in a manner satisfactory to the Superintendent of Common Schools, the proposals and assurances by them respectively made to us, and herein substantially stated.

The statement in regard to the Farmington offer is as follows :

The Trustees of Farmington Academy offer their present Academy building, which is fifty by thirty feet, and two stories high, to be divided into recitation rooms, with settees, blackboards, etc.

They propose to erect an additional building about sixty by forty-five feet, and to finish upon the first floor a school-room with permanent seats, with desks for two hundred persons; upon the second floor a hall for lectures and other uses, to be furnished with movable settees. Also, other suitable rooms for library, apparatus, dressing-rooms, etc. They have also an available cash fund of $4000 all of which they will appropriate for erecting, altering and furnishing the buildings, and for such other objects as may be deemed necessary.

We are assured that board for two hundred students may be had in respectable private families, within three-quarters of a mile from the Academy, at from $1.75 to $2.50 per week, according to the accommodations required; and that an arrangement will be made with the Androscoggin Railroad to transport students from abroad to and from school for one fare.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PHILIP EASTMAN.
HENRY WILLIAMSON.
EPHRAIM FLINT.

AUGUSTA, June 19, 1863.

That a strong effort was made to have the school located elsewhere is evident from the action of the Council. The Committee made their Report June 19, 1863, but on the twenty-fourth, the Council passed an order "that the Commissioners should deposit in the office of the Secretary of State, the several propositions submitted to them by citizens or trustees, with all the facts within their knowledge or possession, relating to the establishment of said schools." The facts and papers asked for in the above order were submitted to the Council August 7th, and after a long debate the Governor and Council on the ninth of October, 1863, confirmed the action of the Commissioners in locating the school at Farmington, with the following proviso :

Provided, The said Trustees of Farmington Academy will furnish, without expense to the State, suitable buildings for the instruction of two hundred pupils for the term of five years, the same to be completed by the fifteenth day of August next.

This delay in locating the school and the fact that no funds had been received from the sale of the lands that had been set apart for the support of the school, compelled the postponement of the opening of the school until the fall of 1864.

In the Report of 1866, the Rev. Dr. Ballard, State Superintendent of Schools, relates the next year's (1864) work :

Short as the time was, the Trustees with great energy proceeded with preparations for erecting a brick building, which, with the repair of the wooden structure, would afford the desired accommodation; and it having been impracticable to complete it in season, the first term of the school was held in a commodious hall (Beal's) furnished by the Trustees. The Trustees have expended more than eight thousand dollars in erecting and furnishing the buildings now occupied, exceeding the available funds of the institution by three thousand five hundred dollars, raised by them on a mortgage of the property.

While all the Trustees heartily co-operated in the work, it is due to Mr. A. P. Kelsey, the first Principal, to say that he devoted a year's time in laboring for the establishment of the school and superintending the building operations without compensation. It was at his suggestion that the Trustees took the initiatory measures herein before stated.

After much care and deliberation, the State Superintendent selected the following Board of Instruction :

Principal—Mr. Ambrose Parsons Kelsey, a graduate of Hamilton College, formerly a professor in the State Normal School at Albany, N. Y., and recently Preceptor of Farmington Academy.

Assistants—Mr. George M. Gage, a native of Waterford, Me., and a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School. Mr. Gage had taught several years in the Maine and Massachusetts public schools, and was principal of the Adams School, Quincy, Mass., when he was called to this school. Moreover, he had been zealous in urging the establishment of training schools in his native State; Miss Annie E. Johnson, a native of Maine, for two years preceding one of the principal teachers in the Framingham Normal School.

Lecturer—Walter Wells, A. M.

Thus admirably equipped the school began its work Aug. 24, 1864, in Beal's Hall, for the new building was not yet completed, and it was not until the beginning of the winter term that the school moved into its new home.

Thirty-one pupils, from nine different counties, were present the first day. This number was increased to fifty-nine before the close of the term. Surely this was a much more auspicious opening than that of the first State Normal School in our country. Twenty-five years before—

July 3, 1839 — three pupils presented themselves for admission to the Normal School at Lexington, Mass.

During the year one hundred and thirty pupils entered the school, — a number larger than has entered any subsequent year.

After a year of arduous duty, Mr. Kelsey, "who had anxiously labored for the welfare of the school through the perplexities of its first year, declined a re-election, having in view the acceptance of a position in an educational institution in western New York."

Miss Johnson also resigned to become Principal of the Framingham Normal School.

Mr. Gage succeeded as Principal, with Miss Sarah R. Smith and her sister, Miss Mary B. Smith, both graduates of the Salem (Mass.) Normal School, and teachers in that school, and Miss Mary C. Packard, also a graduate of Framingham Normal School, and a very successful teacher in the Brunswick High School, as assistants. In the spring term of that year, Miss Helen B. Coffin, a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School (now Mrs. Daniel Beedy of Farmington), one of the most successful and widely known lady teachers ever connected with the Maine Normal Schools, and Miss Sophia R. Earle, a graduate of and teacher in the Framingham Normal School, were added to the faculty.

At the close of this year a class of ten ladies graduated. It was an occasion of great interest, as shown by the large number of visitors present. The Rev. Dr. Ballard, State Superintendent of Common Schools, in his report of the exercises, speaks as follows :

The whole drew forth warm commendation from the literary gentlemen present, and all felt satisfied that the diploma, given to each member of the graduating class, was indeed a testimonial to good character, diligence in study, ample attainments, and a compliance with the rules of the school. The persons most interested in its work and care, saw on that day a rich compensation for the solicitude of the enterprise, which had thus far, at least, been regarded as an experiment; and they might well be pardoned, if somewhat of the feeling of triumph over the difficulties of its incipency and early timid progress pervaded their breasts.

The importance of the occasion and justice to those who were instrumental in founding the School, will justify, perhaps, another quotation from the same report :

Our Normal School at Farmington is rapidly coming to its promised usefulness; and its record for the first two years, though some of its lines may tell of uncertainties, trials, and anxieties, yet in its present results will speak of success and encouragement. The sagacity and skill of my predecessor in perceiving and displaying the benefits of such a school, and his perseverance in securing the requisite enactment by the Legislature; the earnestness of the first Principal in gaining its pleasant location, and his devoted attention to its wants in the struggles of the first experimental year; the equal earnestness and unshrinking fidelity of its present Principal, himself one of the original prompters of the enterprise, and an efficient teacher in it from the beginning, aided by assistants competent in the branches assigned to their instruction;—have brought the institution to a condition of prosperity hardly equalled in any other, in the same short time of its continuance.

In 1868, Mr. Gage resigned to take charge of the Normal School at Mankato, Minn., and Mr. Charles C. Rounds, Principal of the Edward Little Institute, Auburn, Me., was chosen as his successor.

In addition to a mind eminently clear and critical, trained in one of the best scientific schools of New England, with great energy and intense love for his profession, Mr. Rounds brought to his work here a profound knowledge of the needs of our schools gained by eleven years' experience as a teacher in this and other States. Here he labored for fifteen years, graduating three hundred and seventy-seven pupils, making the school respected wherever known for the thoroughness of its professional work.

Perhaps in no other way is the quality of his work better shown than in the fact that, whereas it was necessary for many years to obtain most of the teachers from other schools, the teachers for the last decade have been nearly all his own graduates.

He was an enthusiastic teacher. He strongly impressed his own personality upon his pupils. He created and sustained a healthy moral tone in every class as it entered. He could not endure sham. Dishonest work of any kind he would never tolerate. The daily "teaching exercises" as a part of the regular work were introduced by him, as well as many other new methods, the result of his own professional studies and investigations.

Not only in the school-room and in the work of the graduates has his influence been felt, but by his addresses and reports the educational spirit of the whole State has been raised. To him belongs the credit of the inception of the Maine Pedagogical Society, unique among the educational associations of the Union, and destined to be of great value to the cause of education in the State.

Through his efforts in 1869, at a time when many of the other Normal Schools in the country either doubted the expediency of establishing model schools or were not alive to their importance, the Primary Training School was established, and has proved to be the "strong right arm" of the institution.

After fifteen years of earnest labor, Mr. Rounds resigned to become Principal of the State Normal School at Plymouth, N. H., where, it is pleasant to record, he is meeting with equal, or greater, success.

Of his work here, Supt. Luce, in his report for 1883, speaks as follows :

Dr. Rounds had been at the head of the school by annual re-election, for fifteen years, a record speaking volumes in his praise. By his untiring devotion to its interests during all those years, by his unwearying labors with tongue and pen for the educational well-being of the State, and by what he has been able to accomplish through his wide and accurate professional acquirements in giving form and shape to our Normal School work, and through his professional zeal in creating among the teachers of the State a spirit of earnestness, of devotion, and for untiring labor for educational progress, similar to his own whose effects, though already largely felt for good, are yet to show themselves more largely in the future — he has won a place in our educational history second to that of no other man. Such men deserve better of the State than they are wont to receive.

And as showing the respect and affectionate regard of the graduates, the following resolutions are given from the Alumni records :

Triennial Reunion, July 6, 1883.

Resolved: That by the resignation of Dr. C. C. Rounds from the position he has so long and honorably filled, Maine loses and New Hampshire gains a man who stands in the front rank among the educators of the day; that in his new field of labor he has our confidence, our esteem, and our affection, no less in the future than in the past; that we trust his future outlook may be only "from above the clouds;" and we sincerely hope we may often meet him as an honored member of this Association.

Triennial Reunion, June 11, 1886.

Resolved: That the Alumni Association of the Farmington State Normal School assembled at Farmington June 11, 1886, send friendly greetings and hearty good wishes to Dr. C. C. Rounds, and express our continued love and respect as increased and strengthened with passing years.

The vacant principalship was tendered to the Rev. A. W. Burr, Principal of the Hallowell Classical and Scientific Academy, but Mr. Burr declined to accept the position. Again the Trustees went to Auburn and Mr. George C. Purington, Principal of the Edward Little High School, was invited to come to Farmington. Of himself he can only say that he has labored with whatever ability and earnestness he may have to sustain the former high reputation of the school, and that he feels deeply grateful for the help and encouragement he has received from the graduates.

SKETCHES OF THE TEACHERS.

PRINCIPALS.

AMBROSE PARSONS KELSEY, Clinton, N. Y.

Mr. Kelsey was born in Paris, Oneida Co., N. Y., August 30, 1832. Graduated from Hamilton College in 1856. Professor in the State Normal School, Albany, N. Y., 1859. Married in Farmington, Me., Dec. 24, 1863, Ellen V., daughter of Hon. Robert Goodenow.

Was Principal of Farmington Academy for several terms. Largely through his efforts the Normal School was established and located at Farmington, and he became its first Principal, remaining but one year. Appointed a Visitor to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, 1865. Was elected Principal of the New Hampshire State Normal School in 1876, and Professor of Natural History, Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., in 1879, a position which he still holds. Received the degree of Ph. D. from Bowdoin College in 1881.

GEORGE M. GAGE, St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Gage was born in Waterford, Oxford County, Maine, August 22, 1834. His father, a physician, died in 1842, leaving a family of eight children, — six girls and two boys, George being the youngest. His mother inspired all her children with a desire to get as good an education as possible, being herself a well-read lady. A family school and the village district school afforded opportunities at first, and the Latin language was begun at home almost as early as the English. At fourteen George was placed in charge of his guardian, a farmer, to remain until of age. He lived on this farm about two years, a very discontented life. In the autumn of 1850, being sixteen years old, he started out for himself, determined to go to school. The path was not easy, as his father's estate was small, and he must work his own way. At North Bridgton Academy, about six miles from his home, good facilities were afforded, and with alternate teaching and study, the years passed on. During these years, there was, however, a great variety of work done, in service on the farm in haying time and nearly a year of work as brakeman on a railroad. Schools were taught in Bridgton, Sweden, Lowell, Perry, Robbinston and Charlotte. The principal part of the years 1857 and 1858 was spent in the State Normal School at Bridgewater, Mass., and in the summer of the latter year, Mr. Gage was graduated from that institution. From the Normal School, he went at once to take charge of the High School in Manchester, Mass. Remaining there two years, he accepted the position, in 1860, of Principal of the South Grammar School, Beverly, Mass. From this place, he went, in 1863, to take charge of the Adams School, Quincy, Mass. Having interested himself for several years in the establishment of Normal Schools in Maine, in 1864, when provision had been made for the opening of the school at Farmington, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. Edward P. Weston, invited him to become assistant teacher there ; this position he accepted. In 1865, Mr. Gage was made Principal of the school, continuing in that place until the year 1868. While he was Principal, the charter of Farmington Academy was turned over to the State, and the building and grounds became the State's property to be used thereafter for the purposes of a teachers' training school. Seventy-seven were graduated during his connection with the school.

In 1868, the second State Normal School of Minnesota was established at Mankato, and by invitation of the Board of Directors, through Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, then State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Gage became the first Principal of the school. During his principalship, the building for the school was erected. At the end of four years, in the year 1872, he was elected Superintendent of Public Schools for the City of St. Paul, where he has since resided, though at the end of two years, (in 1874), he resigned the position of Superintendent, and since that time, except occasionally in institute work, has not engaged in teaching.

While in the State Normal School at Farmington, Mr. Gage founded, in 1866, The Maine Normal, which he continued to edit and publish until he went to Minnesota. This journal advocated the revival of the Maine State Teachers' Association, and in 1867, largely on account of this advocacy, a new organization of the teachers of the State was effected. After Mr. Gage's departure to the West, The Maine Normal was continued under the name of The Maine Journal of Education, Mr. A. P. Stone, then of Portland, Maine, becoming its editor.

Soon after going to St. Paul, the Governor of the State, Hon. Horace Austin, appointed Mr. Gage a member of the Board of Directors of the State Normal and Training Schools, and he was, by the Members of the Board, elected their President. He also associated himself with Prof. W. W. Payne, of Carleton College, in the publication of The Minnesota Teacher, of which he finally became sole proprietor and publisher, continuing in that work until the close of the year 1873.

In August, 1861, Mr. Gage was married to Elizabeth S. Webber of Sweden, Maine, who was herself a graduate of the State Normal School at Framingham, Mass., and for several years a successful teacher. They have three children: Frances, born in Quincy, Mass., who was graduated from the Teachers' Training School, St. Paul, taught two years in the public schools of that city, and is now an undergraduate in Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.; Benjamin, who has also taught, born in Farmington, Me., now connected with the Oregon Navigation and Railway Co., at Portland, Oregon; and May, born in St. Paul, Minnesota.

CHARLES COLLINS ROUNDS, Plymouth, N. H.

Mr. Rounds was born in Waterford, Maine, Aug. 15, 1831. From 1849 to 1853 was a printer in Portland, Me., and Boston and Cambridge, Mass. Graduated from the Scientific Department of Dartmouth College in 1857, and was Principal of the Academy at South Paris from 1857 to 1859. From 1859 to 1865, principal of a public school in Cleveland, Ohio. Teacher in the Edward Little Institute, Auburn, Me., 1865-1868, the last year as Principal of the school. From 1868 to 1883, Principal of the State Normal School, Farmington, Me. Since 1883, Principal of the State Normal School, Plymouth, N. H.

Mr. Rounds married in 1857, Miss Kate N. Stowell of South Paris, Me. They have four children: Agnes Iola, Arthur C., Ralph S., and Katie E., the first three being graduates of the Farmington State Normal School.

Mr. Rounds has received the degrees of B. S. and M. S. from Dartmouth College, A. M. from Bowdoin College and Colby University, and Ph. D. from Bates College. He has been once President of the Maine State Teachers' Association, twice President of the National Normal Association, once President of the New England Normal Association, and has received three successive elections by the National Educational Association as a member of the National Council of Education, having been continuously a member of the National Council since its organization in 1880.

He has at this writing (June 22, 1889) just sailed for Europe as Commissioner from the State of New Hampshire to the Paris Exposition.

GEORGE COLBY PURINGTON, Farmington, Maine.

Mr. Purington was born in Embden, Me., June 27, 1848. Began teaching at the age of seventeen and taught district schools, working on a farm and in a store in the spring and summer until 1871, when he became an assistant in Yarmouth Academy. After remaining there a year, he became Associate Principal of Hebron Academy, where he remained two years, fitting for college in the time. Entered Bowdoin College in 1874, graduating in 1878. For two years during his college course he was Principal of the Topsham High School. Was Principal of the Brunswick High School the last term of his Senior year, where he remained three years, when he resigned to become Principal of the Edward Little High School, Auburn, Me. After teaching there two years he was called to his present position.

Mr. Purington received the degree of A. B. from Bowdoin College at his graduation, and three years later the degree of A. M., and in December, 1888, was elected President of the Maine Pedagogical Society for the current year.

Mr. Purington married, Dec. 26, 1878, Sarah C., daughter of Rev. D. P. Bailey of Hebron, Me. They have three children: Otis Garland, born Dec. 23, 1879, died Dec. 26, 1879; George Colby, Jr., born Dec. 5, 1880; Dudley Bailey, born Jan. 27, 1884.

ASSISTANTS.

GEORGE M. GAGE, 1864-5, St. Paul, Minn.

For sketch, see pages 19-21.

ANNIE E. JOHNSON, 1864-5, Bradford, Mass.

On leaving Farmington, Miss Johnson became Principal of the State Normal School at Framingham, Mass., where she remained several years. She resigned her place there to become Principal of Bradford (Mass.) Ladies' Seminary, which position she still occupies.

SARAH R. SMITH, 1865-6, Beverly, Mass.

Miss Smith is a graduate of the Salem Normal School, and was one of the teachers there before coming here. Since teaching here, Miss Smith writes that she has been constantly at work in various private and public schools, teaching in all the grades from Kindergarten to the High and Normal. Has taught in the Edward Little Institute, Auburn, Me., in Robinson Female Seminary, Exeter, N. H., Brooklyn, N. Y., Washington, D. C., and in Boston, where she is now teaching. She adds: "I am happy to say that I believe now as I have always believed, that teaching is the noblest and most satisfactory work that mortal can do."

MARY B. SMITH, 1865-6, Beverly, Mass.

Like her sister, Miss Smith is a graduate of the Salem Normal School and was a teacher there before coming to Farmington. After leaving here, she went back to the Salem School, taught there several years, then in the Miner Normal School, Washington, D. C., and is now teaching a private school of her own at Beverly, Mass.

MARY C. PACKARD, 1865-6, Brunswick, Me.

Miss Packard graduated from the Framingham Normal School, and, if we are not mistaken, was Principal of the Brunswick High School before coming here.

Married, June 13, 1867, Albert G. Tenney, editor of the Brunswick Telegraph, and has resided ever since in Brunswick.

Mrs. Tenney has been constantly engaged in literary work and study, and has devoted considerable time to painting, in which she excels. During the illness of Mr. Tenney for several months, the editorial management of the Telegraph was mainly in her hands, and was so well conducted that she received many encomiums from the press of the State.

HELEN B. COFFIN, 1866-9, 1880-2, 1883-5, Farmington, Me.

Miss Coffin is a native of Maine. She taught ten years in our public schools before her graduation from the Bridgewater Normal School, and has spent nearly thirteen years in the Normal Schools of Maine. In 1869 she was transferred from this school to a higher position in the Eastern Normal School at Castine, where she taught six years, when she married, Aug. 5, 1875, Mr. Daniel Beedy of Farmington, and came back here to live. During the years 1880-2, she taught at different times several months in the Normal, her wide acquaintance with the subjects taught enabling her to perform successfully the work of any of the teachers whose places became vacant by sickness or resignation.

From 1883 to 1885 she was first lady assistant, thus completing her term of long and honorable service to the State.

In one of the most beautiful and delightful homes in Farmington she is still a teacher in the widest sense. She is an earnest Chautauquan, an active member of the W. C. T. U., has served as President of the local Union, and is now President for Franklin County. Of her it can be truly said that she is among the foremost in all good works; and in her home any Normal will find a hearty welcome.

SOPHIA R. EARLE, 1866-8, Paxton, Mass.

Miss Earle graduated from the Framingham Normal School and was a teacher there when she was called to Farmington. After two years' service here she resigned and accepted a place in the Normal School at Fredonia, N. Y., and after that became an assistant in the Athenæum Seminary for Young Ladies, Brooklyn, N. Y., where she remained until her marriage, June 12, 1872, to Mr. Ledyard Bill of that city.

They have three children: Frederic Ledyard, born June 13, 1873; Bertha Earle, born June 5, 1875, and Lucy Sophie, born Oct. 28, 1882.

For several years their home has been at Paxton, Mass., where Mrs. Bill has been connected with the schools, either as Superintendent, or as a member of the School Committee, serving in the latter capacity at the present time.

ISABEL L. WIGHT, 1866-7, Natick, Mass.

Miss Wight was graduated from the Framingham Normal School in the same class with Miss Ellen Hyde, the present Principal of that institution. Before coming to Farmington she taught three years in the High School at Natick, and after leaving here taught in a high school in Stamford, Ct., then in private schools in Matawan, N. J., and Stamford, Ct. Following this she was for five years an assistant in a large high school in Lee, Mass., and for the next four years taught Latin, History and Geography in the Framingham Normal School.

In 1879 she had the pleasure of an eighty days' European trip with Miss Julia Sears for a companion.

Miss Wight is now at her home in Natick, Mass., caring for her parents and other home friends.

JULIA A. SEARS, 1866-8, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Sears is a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School. Since leaving Farmington she has taught in the Normal School at Mankato, Minn., and has been teaching in the Peabody Normal College, Nashville, Tenn., for nearly fourteen years, or since its organization.

ROLISTON WOODBURY, A. M., 1867-79.

Principal of the Castine State Normal School. Died Nov. 1, 1888.

The following tribute to the memory of Mr. Woodbury was prepared and read by Dr. Rounds at the annual meeting of the Pedagogical Society, of which Mr. Woodbury was an honored member, December, 1888 :

Roliston Woodbury, born in Sweden in this State in 1840, died at Castine, Nov. 1, 1888.

He began teaching at the age of sixteen or seventeen. Fitting for college at Bridgton Academy, he entered Bowdoin in 1861, but soon left to join the 5th Battery of the first Regiment of Maine Volunteers. This Battery ranked first of the eighteen best drilled batteries of the Army of the Potomac. Its discipline and valor were put to the severest tests, as at Cedar Mountain, Second Bull Run, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Chancellorsville.

Of the terrible struggle at Chancellorsville, Mr. Woodbury wrote an account which is one of the most vivid ever written of the real spirit of a battle. Here he stood until he was the only man left at his gun. The next gun also had only one man at it; the other four were silenced. After three years and eight months of honorable, arduous service, he was mustered out with his regiment at the close of the war.

The college course was not resumed. He entered the Normal School at Farmington, from which he graduated in 1867. Upon his graduation he became one of the faculty of the school. He continued in this place for twelve years, until in 1879 he took the position of Principal of the Normal School at Castine. This place he held until his death, thus rounding out the long period of twenty-one years devoted to normal school work in his native State.

To stand so long in such prominent places argues much for the character of the man; but when we consider how he stood, the confidence and affection which were his in life and the sorrow attending his death, it follows that Mr. Woodbury possessed rare qualities of character, of mind, and heart.

His character was singularly straightforward. He was not aggressive, nor self-assertive, but no one who knew him ever doubted where he would be found.

His home was of the kind which has moulded the best New England lives—frugal, industrious, religious. The town was always singularly free from demoralizing or disturbing influences. I knew it well. Before his time I was a student in the beautiful, quiet village at the head of the lake where he fitted for college. To the influence of the college he owed nothing, for the whirlwind of war bore him away. Fortunate again, he passed into the school of Captain Lepien, American by birth, but trained in the best military science of Europe, a man of such sovereign devotion and elevation of character that his men gave him at once full confidence and implicit obedience and mourned in his untimely death their dearest friend. The very best results of army discipline were clearly apparent in Mr. Woodbury's promptness, diligence, unflinching devotion to duty, his singularly rare ability to mind his own business and do it.

His success as a teacher was due to qualities which were patent to all observers. He had never lived on speculation. His early days had brought him into connection with the realities of a simple mode of life. There was here no suggestion of speculations as to fundamental principles of sociology which are at times forced upon those who find themselves in a world too strong for them. Holding fast to the promise that seed time and harvest should not fail, every day brought its duties dependent on the inflexible course of nature. During the period of army life which so powerfully influenced all his subsequent thought, he was not to speculate, but to obey. He was not confronted by a theory, but by a fearful reality—the confederacy in arms against the Nation. In his later career as pupil and as teacher he wisely adapted himself to his circumstances; his employment was continuous and without special anxieties. By constitution and training he was led to reverence real truth, and he must have it definite and clear. In taking up any new line of teaching he must first of all get his bearings, establish his points of observation, measure his base lines, and from these cover his field by a kind of mental triangulation. So long as he taught this subject he would add here and there as new knowledge or new light came to him, but his bases were seldom moved. In his teaching he made points. He did not repress discussion but he guided it. He came to his results by thought, his pupils had to do the same. He sometimes forgot that they could not take so long steps as he, but as soon as they came to know him, they could go to him with their difficulties again and again, for his patience with an earnest pupil was invincible.

In the class-room he was at home and so were his pupils. He and they were never taken by surprise. Visitors would at any time see the regular work, they would at no time see more. The mental and moral air of his class room was delightful.

Beyond and above the intellectual effects of his work there was another effect arising from his moral nature, his ready sympathy, his instinctive respect for humanity, his modest deference to others, his quiet reserve. Any school would run more smoothly from his being in it. He never antagonized people. Assuming nothing, he soon came to hold in the school and in the community an influential place, due to his straightforwardness, his intelligence, his integrity. Though of pleasant and easy address, and social with his friends, he was not fond of society in the usual sense of that term.

But there was a side to his character which more truly than any other reveals the man; he was before all else a religious man. His moral and religious nature were so closely intertwined that it is not always easy to make a distinction between them. In his entire religious thought and life there was the same reality that pervaded all else. His faith was, in the language of Bacon, "the perception of spiritual truth;" it was indeed the "substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen." Loyal in a remarkable degree to the church of his fathers, he had no word or thought of detraction for others. He had made his choice, and there, by the very constitution of his nature, he must stand. It was for others to do the same, and with the same liberty which he claimed and exercised for himself.

But in our analysis we end as we began with a man; and in the study of any complete life, as of any consummate work of art, it is the unity resulting from perfect blending of essential qualities that remains as the final impression upon the mind. And this character, so simple and yet so strong, was the result of blended influences that may be easily understood,—those early years on the peaceful farm with its prospect of field and forest and encircling mountains; a studious youth; the years spent in stress of march and battle; then the long years of study, of thought, of teaching, and through all, the search for truth and the devotion to duty.

Our relations were for a long time of a peculiarly intimate nature. He had been a teacher in the Normal School for a year before I became connected with it. In the reorganization of the school and the development of its plans of work we wrought together. To his faithful assistance I owed much, and he came by right to fill to me a place which has never since been filled, which will, most likely, henceforth remain unfilled. In more than eleven years of daily intercourse there was never a word of difference between us, and yet, by nature, from our training, and our diverse experiences in life, we differed in many ways. Devoted to his work, loyal, true in thought and deed, it was very pleasant to work with him in brotherhood; it were ungenerous not to pay a personal tribute. It must seem to you extravagant should I say all that is in my thought, for simple in his tastes, fond of the quiet ways in which you were never privileged to walk with him, you could not know him as I did.

To him belonged the beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." His soul was diamond—the sunlight and the rock—not a dazzling but a mellow light; not of perfect water—it took a tinge from the earth on which he dwelt; there were tints but no streak. He was serious, not sad; never hilarious, for he had looked death in the eye and blenched not. One who is a man does not pass through such battle tests and come out as he was before. No influence had been so powerful as this. He was not one to talk of his past in the great struggle, but when he did speak his soul went into his utterance. Those who have heard his lecture on Gettysburg will remember the expression thrown into his reference to "that thin line of blue that wavered but would not break." The anniversaries of his army life were in his thought and sometimes on his tongue: as, "So many years ago to-day such a battle was won;" or, "We were on such a march;" or, "We received such orders."

The effects of his army life never left him. The death he had faced so often followed on his steps, and in his later years walked by his side, and he knew it. Yet it was his choice to stand at his post to the last, as he stood by his gun at Chancellorsville. And so, child of the mountains, he rests at last by the sea. Rests by the sea. So we speak, but how false the phrase to Christian faith and hopes of immortality. He disappeared from mortal sight. He answers to the roll-call above. If he stand not now among the shining ones who watch and wait, it is idle to speak of the communion of saints and the life everlasting.

What shall his monument be? Not painted window which may break. Not marble shaft to tell the idle wanderer, who cares not, what man this was. His life and work have built for him, in loving souls, a monument more lasting than glass or stone, not a dead shape but a living influence to sustain and inspire, and to pass on into other souls when these shall mould. But something more is due. Let his pupils of both schools join in a testimonial marking their appreciation of his worth, in some form to continue the work he loved so well. Thus will the good he has done live after him, and the generations following bless his name.

For a further sketch of Mr. Woodbury's work, see history of the Class of 1867.

HANNAH B. STEWART, Spring Term, 1867, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Mrs. Noel E. Stevens.

See Class of 1866.

SUSAN D. MELCHER, 1868-72, Melrose, Mass.

Miss Melcher is principal of a grammar school in Melrose, Mass., and writes that she has been teaching for sixteen years in that town.

MARY A. DAVIS, 1868-70.

From friends we learn that Miss Davis graduated from the Salem Normal School in 1861. After leaving Farmington her health did not allow her to teach, and she died at Lee, N. H., in 1878.

MARIA N. BILLINGS, 1869-71, Castine, Me.

Mrs. Roliston Woodbury.

See Class of 1869.

CHARLES E. WILLIAMS, M. D., 1870-71, Auburn, Me.

See Class of 1870.

CLARA A. HINCKLEY, 1871-2, Farmington, Me.

Mrs. D. H. Knowlton.

See Class of 1870.

ELIZA T. MOORE, 1871-2, Spring Term, 1885, West Farmington, Me.

Married, Feb. 10, 1874, Calvin D. Sewall of Farmington, who died Nov. 5, 1883. Mrs. Sewall has two daughters: Susie Isabel, born June 6, 1875; and Helen A., born March 10, 1877.

From 1885 to 1888 Mrs. Sewall served on the Farmington School Committee, and largely through her long experience, good judgment and energy the schools of the town were raised to a high standard. A course of study was arranged for the rural schools and a deep interest in education was created in them.

LAURA M. CURTIS, 1872-3, New York City.

Miss Curtis has a school, a friend informs us, at 36 East 23d St., New York.

JENNIE M. HAYDEN, 1872-81, New Gloucester, Me.

Mrs. Dr. J. I. Sturgis.

See Class of 1867.

SARAH B. MORTON, 1872-3, Cannes, France.

Miss Morton writes from Cannes: "After leaving Farmington I taught but a short time, as illness of many years' duration among the members of my family absorbed my time and attention so that I am now rather a nurse than teacher. The few later years have been spent in Switzerland and France with an invalid brother, and a sister who were in need of the mild climate of the Riviera. I recall with pleasure my stay among the kind people of Farmington and never lose my interest in its Normal School."

Miss Morton is a graduate of the Salem Normal School.

CLARA F. ALLEN, 1873-81, 158 E. 55th St., New York.

Miss Allen is a native of Maine, and graduated from the Bridgewater Normal School. After eight years of very successful work here she married J. Arthur Greene, Second Class of 1876, q. v.

One of her pupils pays her the following tribute :

To fine scholarship and a thorough preparation for her work, was added the natural gift of the true teacher — the power to inspire in her pupils the enthusiasm and interest which she possessed. In the class-room she was a rapid and thorough worker, and however difficult the subject, the recitation period was always a pleasant one. Quiet in her manner, she aroused in her pupils the desire to do their best, and the same influence, reaching outside the schoolroom, led them to try to be their best.

J. WALTER STETSON, 1873-4, Auburn, Me.

See Class of 1871.

LOTTIE E. CALDWELL, 1874-5, Argyle Park, Ill.

Miss Caldwell graduated from the Cincinnati Normal School. Taught here one year, was re-elected, but declined and accepted a position in the Cincinnati Public Schools. In the fall of 1878 she went to St. Margaret's School in Waterbury, Connecticut, as a teacher of mathematics. Remained there two years, when she was compelled to leave on account of sickness. In the fall of 1880, accepted a call to the High School in Claremont, N. H., declining a re-election the following year to accept a much higher salary and position in the Bartholomew English and Classical School in Cincinnati, where she remained five years.

Married Mr. W. F. Wood of Chicago, where she has resided since, in Argyle Park, a suburb of the city.

They have one son. Mrs. Wood writes that "she has a warm spot in her heart for all old friends who were in the Farmington Normal School during 1874-5, and would be glad to see any of them."

EDITH E. WIGGIN, 1875-6, Exeter, N. H.

Miss Wiggin is a graduate of the Salem Normal School. From Farmington she went back to Salem, as Principal of the Training School. The next year she taught in the Gannett Institute, Boston. For the next five years her health did not allow her to take a permanent position. In 1884, she became one of the teachers in Greylock Institute, a preparatory school for boys, at South Williamstown, Mass., where she remained until the present year. In January, 1889, she began her duties as Principal of the Normal Department of Robinson Seminary, Exeter, N. H.

MARTHA H. WIGGIN, 1875-6.

Like her sister, Miss Wiggin graduated from the Salem Normal School. After leaving Farmington, she taught part of a year in that school, taking the place of an absent teacher. In 1880, she went to Malden, Mass., where she was an assistant in a grammar school four years. She taught no more after this, and died in Arlington, Mass., June 17, 1888.

ADDIE F. HAYDEN, 1876-7, Raymond, Me.

Mrs. Dr. John C. Winter.

See First Class of 1876.

WILLIAM HARPER, 1877-81, Dalton, Ga.

After graduating from a western college, Mr. Harper studied some time in one of the German Universities, and married in Munich, Bertha Von Tauber, the daughter of a German artist.

After leaving the Normal, he was Principal of the Farmington High School one year. In 1885-6, he was Superintendent of Schools in Southbridge, Mass., and since that time Superintendent of the Public Schools, Dalton, Ga., and for the current year is Principal of the white school.

While in Southbridge he prepared the map questions for the special Geography of New England for Maury's Revised Manual, besides revising and condensing the text. Since going to Georgia he has prepared a special Geography of Georgia, including history (with the exception of the cities and towns) for the same work.

He has the manuscripts of two educational works nearly ready for publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper have a very interesting family of six children, five of whom are living, the youngest born since leaving Farmington. They are enjoying their sunny Southern home very much.

GEORGIA P. BUCKNAM, 1879-80, Newton Centre, Mass.

See Second Class of 1874.

FREELAN O. STANLEY, 1880-1, Lewiston, Me.

See Class of 1871.

ELIZA J. PERLEY, 1881-3, Thorndike, Me.

Miss Perley had studied in Europe and been Preceptress at the Seminary at Kent's Hill before coming here. After leaving, she was Principal of the High School, Ottumwa, Iowa, from 1884 to 1888. She is now taking a needed vacation.

ANNIE M. PINKHAM, 1881-2, 1883-6, Bluehill, Me.

Mrs. Rev. E. A. Mason.

See Second Class of 1878.

WARREN C. PHILBROOK, 1882-3, Waterville, Me.

Mr. Philbrook is a graduate of the Normal School at Castine and also of Colby University, Class of 1882. Married the same year, Miss Ada M. Foster of Waterville.

After leaving Farmington, he returned to Waterville, finished his legal studies and was admitted to the bar in 1884. Became Principal of the Waterville High School the same year and taught with fine success until the summer of 1887, when he resigned and formed a law partnership with the Hon. O. G. Hall of Waterville, since which time he has been in the active practice of his profession in that city.

LILLIAN M. MUNGER, 1882-3, 86 Marlborough St., Boston.

See Second Class of 1878.

EDWIN S. MATTHEWS, 1882-3, Boston, Mass.

His present occupation is that of a mechanical engineer. Since leaving Farmington, he has been employed mainly in steam and hydraulic engineering in New England, and at the present is employed in putting in elevators. Married, July 10, 1888, Agnes Iola Rounds of Plymouth, N. H., a graduate of the Second Class of 1880, and is living in Boston.

Office, 113 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass.

MABEL E. AUSTIN, Farmington, Me.

Mrs. E. E. Richards.

See First Class of 1879.

CHARLES F. WARNER, 1883-8, 22 Centre St., Cambridgeport, Mass.

Mr. Warner graduated from Colby University in 1879 and took a course of study in the Bridgewater Normal School the following year.

After five years of very valuable work, he resigned to accept the position of Sub-Master in the English High School, Cambridge, Mass.

In Mr. Warner's resignation the School met with a great loss. To a generous and special preparation for his profession, joined to natural abilities of a high order, he added an earnestness and zeal that have placed him in the foremost rank among teachers.

Mr. Warner married, July 5, 1886, Marion A. Luce, Second Class of 1883, and for two years, 1885-7, Principal of the Primary Training School. They have one child, Margaret, born Feb. 12, 1888.

ELIZABETH G. BELL, 1883-5.

Miss Bell was a graduate of the Manchester (N. H.) High School and the Salem Normal School. After teaching three or four years, the last two years as an assistant in the Edward Little High School, Auburn, Me., she went abroad, spending two years in Germany and France to perfect herself in the languages of those countries. Returning, she was again called to the Edward Little High School, this time as first lady assistant. She remained but a year, when she resigned to accept a position, in the fall of 1883, in the Normal. During her second year her health failed, and she was obliged to seek a milder climate. In the summer of 1885, she was elected Professor of French and History in the State Agricultural College, at Fort Collins, Colo., where she taught for nearly two years, making a brave battle for life. But the nature of her disease (consumption) was such that neither climate, nor more than human courage, nor the prayers of her friends could avail, and she returned to the hills of her early New Hampshire home and found rest April 23, 1887.

It would be unjust not to pay a tribute to the memory of one to whom her fellow teachers as well as her pupils were deeply indebted.

She belonged to a family that has given to the Granite State some of the brightest minds among its brilliant men. She inherited her full share of the mental vigor and acumen of that family. Her teaching was always clear, direct, earnest and enthusiastic. Her classes could not be dull, and, no matter what she taught, no pupil failed to be interested in his work. No braver, gentler, purer spirit ever shed its benediction over a schoolroom, and a shrine to her memory has been built in every heart that has been blessed by her instruction.

G. M., Jr., born March 24, 1883; Edith A., born Aug. 10, 1886.

Mankato, Minn.

GEORGE M. FERGUSON, Shapleigh, Me.

Mr. Ferguson was also one of the thirty-one pioneers. Was principal of a grammar school at Thomaston, Me., for one year after graduating and then taught three years in the State Normal School, Mankato, Minn., where he died, Oct. 24, 1871, of typhoid fever. He was very popular as a teacher and much respected as an earnest Christian man. Principal Gage said of him: "Those who knew him best will associate with his memory only such words and deeds as belong to the nobler types of human nature."

ADA M. FLOYD, Winthrop, Me.

Taught until 1870 in various Maine towns. From 1870 to 1875 taught the grammar school in Keene, N. H., and then for a time the same grade in Marlboro, Mass. Married, Aug. 9, 1878, Charles Edwin Smith, A. B., of Monmouth, a graduate of Bowdoin College, class of 1874, and at this time Superintendent of City Schools, Lyons, Iowa. Here they resided till 1880, when they removed to Crookston, Minn., where Mr. Smith held the Superintendency of the City Schools, and was also largely interested in wheat raising. His death occurred in Crookston, in June, 1883, leaving one child, Charley C. F., born August, 1882.

Since her husband's decease, Mrs. Smith has resided with her parents in Winthrop. She is much interested in the Natural Sciences. Has organized and conducted a Summer School of Science, holding weekly meetings from April to October at her home, and has been its President since April, 1886. Is also President of Chapter 498 of the Agassiz Association. In connection with these organizations she has studied and taught, chiefly Geology, Botany and the History of Maine.

Winthrop Centre, Me.

MARY L. GOODWIN, Dresden, Me.

Miss Goodwin is also one of the thirty-one whose names adorn the first page of the old register. After graduation, attended the Academy at Richmond several terms, studying French, the Higher Mathematics, etc. Has taught 148 weeks, all in Richmond, Gardiner, Lewiston and other Maine towns. Married, Nov. 4, 1873, Augustus S. Bixby of Lewiston, Maine, and went to Los Angeles Co., Cal., where they have since resided. They have four children: Alice M., born Nov. 24, 1874; Lulu A., born Sept. 25, 1876; Willie F., born Sept. 1, 1878; Florence L., born Dec. 22, 1886.

Sierra Madre, Cal.

JENNIE M. HAYDEN, Raymond, Me.

Taught more than 500 weeks. For five years after graduation she taught in New Sharon and Lewiston, Me., and Mankato, Minn. In 1872 she was elected to a position in this School, where she remained a most successful teacher until her resignation at the end of the school year 1880-1. During her teaching she took a course in Drawing in the Boston Normal Art School, in Latin, French and Higher Mathematics at Bates College and Gorham Seminary, in Botany at the Harvard Summer School, and in Zoology at the Martha's Vineyard Summer School. She married, Sept. 5, 1883, John Irving Sturgis, M. D., of New Gloucester.

Her long connection with this School, and the superior character of her work, are sufficient excuse, if any be needed, for the insertion of the following tribute from the pen of one of her pupils:

As a teacher, Miss Hayden's work was characterized by clearness and thoroughness. No class was allowed to leave a subject in which the foundation had not been thoroughly laid. Perhaps no branch better showed the excellence of her teaching than history. Quick to detect superficial preparation, her pupils soon learned the value of diligent and persevering effort.

Her interest in her work was not confined to the classroom but extended to all that pertained to the school life of the pupils. Her time was theirs, and help and encouragement, whenever needed, were freely given.

EDMUND HAYES, Farmington, Me.

Taught but forty weeks after graduation, and then entered the class of '73 in Chandler Scientific Department, Dartmouth College, remaining there two years. He then entered, in '71, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and for two years took a special course in Civil Engineering, but took no degrees. In May, 1873, he began the practice of Civil Engineering on the Erie Railway. Since 1874 has made bridge-building a specialty, and is now one of the four members of the Union Bridge Co. From other sources we learn that this is one of the largest bridge-building concerns in the world. They built the famous Cantilever Bridge over the Niagara River, the first bridge of the kind ever built, and have now on hand a contract to build and equip a railroad in Chili for thirty-five million dollars.

Married, April 27, 1878, Mary H. Warren of Buffalo, N. Y.
160 North Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

ABBIE L. HUSE, Farmington, Me.

Taught a short time and then went to Evanston, Illinois, where she spent a year studying French, German and Spanish. For several years previous to her marriage, she was a clerk in her brother's store. She married, April 14, 1875, Mr. George Charlton, of Toledo, Ohio. In May, 1877, they moved to Wichita, Kansas, where she died, Jan. 10, 1882, after a brief illness, leaving three children: Vesta Adell, born Dec. 17, 1877; Lotta Abbie, born March 6, 1879; Guy, born June 5, 1880, died June 21, 1880.

JOHN JACKSON, Alfred, Me.

Sutton, Mich.

JOHN A. SWEET, Farmington, Me.

Taught one term in Farmington, and then went West. Entered the employ of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., one of the largest dry goods houses in America, in January, 1872, as Superintendent of their Law and Collection Departments, filling this position until May, 1878, when he was promoted to the position of business manager, which implies the exclusive management of the Financial, Credit and Law Departments, which position he still holds.

Has studied law, with particular reference to his business, but not for general practice, and for two years was President of the Garden City Savings and Loan Association, resigning at the end of that time on account of other duties.

Married, June 18, 1878, Mary Stevenson, of Sandusky, Ohio, and has two children: Fred Kent, born Sept. 26, 1879, died Dec. 2, 1879; John Allen, Jr., born April 27, 1881.

The following excerpt from the Chicago Morning News has been handed us, which, we are sure, Mr. Sweet will pardon us for inserting:

With hundreds of other enterprising men who flocked to this great business mart at the close of the '60's came John A. Sweet, a tall, symmetrically proportioned young man, with a head well set upon broad shoulders, a pleasing countenance, and the impersonation of health and vigor. He sought and obtained the desirable but arduous position of Manager of the Collection Department of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., and by dint of sagacity soon established an enviable reputation in the Northwest for the successful manner in which he hunted "lame ducks" and the celerity with which he settled doubtful accounts for cash or indorsed notes. So satisfactory was the progress he made that additional duties were assigned to him, and in 1878 he received the well-earned promotion to the responsible position of Credit Manager, and he continues to fill that place of trust. The statement has been made by reliable authorities, supplemented by able exponents of commercial law in this city — men who are unbiased in forming an opinion regarding the qualifications or standing of a credit-maker — that Mr. Sweet has no superior in the West as an accurate judge of credits. He seems to be endowed with marvelous discernment and is a natural physiognomist, and thus almost intuitively is able to form a correct judgment. This opinion, however, must be confirmed by the manner of the merchant applying for credit in making his statement, as well as by the statement itself. Mr. Sweet's success in his important department may also be attributed to his wonderful memory, which renders him such valuable assistance that only in isolated cases does he consult his credit register. For 1887, the goods represented by the tickets he signs will approximate a value of $11,000,000 — a remarkable showing considering the low value of goods and close competition. Mr. Sweet is equally popular with the purchasers and salesmen and highly esteemed by the business community. He is a member of the Chicago Commandery, Oriental Consistory, and has taken the 32d degree of Masonry. He is a native of the State of Maine, and in his 41st year.

SARAH C. THAYER, Auburn, Me.

We have not been able to learn anything in regard to her teaching. For several years she carried on the millinery and fancy goods business at Mechanic Falls, Me., where she died, Sept. 26, 1885.

Married, Sept. 3, 1883, Mr. John Edgar, a real estate broker of Rochester, Minn.

14 Prospect Street, Rochester, Minn.

ROLISTON WOODBURY, Sweden, Me.

Immediately after graduating he was engaged as an assistant in this School, where he remained twelve years. The remaining nine years of his life he spent at Castine as Principal of the Eastern Normal School, engaged in active work till his death, which occurred Nov. 1, 1888.

The same courage and devotion to duty that had characterized his army life was conspicuously shown in the last years of his teaching. For months he knew that death was walking in his steps, but he did not falter. He was ready to go, or to stay, but while he staid nothing should keep him from his daily duties.

It was the great privilege of the editor to spend two days in the Castine School only a week before Mr. Woodbury's death, and he wishes to gratefully acknowledge the inspiration he received as he witnessed the energy, enthusiasm and clearness of the teaching of a man upon whom was already set the seal of the Better Land, and of whom his many devoted friends were saying, "For only a day can he be with us."

Mr. Woodbury married, Aug. 9, 1870, Miss Maria N. Billings of the Class of 1869, for nearly two years a teacher in this School. They have three children: Ernest R., born July 3, 1871, and just graduated from the Castine School; Nelson L., born May 22, 1874; Willie B., born April 20, 1877.

For a Memorial of Mr. Woodbury, see pages 25-7.

CLASS OF 1868.

Third Class.—Graduated June 2, 1868.

HATTIE ATKINSON, Farmington, Me.

From a relative in Brunswick who knew her well, we learn that she taught constantly and successfully from the time of her graduation, in the villages of Phillips, Farmington, Freeport and Brunswick until her decease, March 23, 1876, in the last named place.

MARY D. BICKNELL, Madison, Me.

Of Miss Bicknell's teaching we have not been able to obtain any account. Married, May, 8, 1871, George F. H. Paul of Skowhegan. Lived in Brighton and then in Lexington, Mass., where she died Jan. 27, 1888, leaving two children: Arthur H., born Aug. 10, 1873; Clarence B., born July 9, 1875.

JOHN W. BIXBY, Anson, Me.

From a relative we learn that Mr. Bixby went to California about the year 1871 and engaged in the business of sheep-raising, in which he was very successful. At the time of his death, which occurred May 6, 1887, he was the owner of a large landed estate, and, besides sheep-raising, carried on a considerable dairy business, farming, and the raising of fine horses. A library of several hundred volumes in his residence at "The Alamitos Ranch" indicated his love of literature and desire for mental cultivation. He at one time held the office of trustee of one of the public schools and at the time of his death was a member of the Los Angeles Board of Trade.

He married, Oct. 15, 1873, Susie P. Hathaway of Wilmington, Cal., and left two children: Fred Hathaway, born April 20, 1875; and Susanna Paterson, born April 11, 1880.

LIZZIE M. BIXBY, Norridgewock, Me.

Taught three and one-half years in Lewiston (primary grade), Norridgewock, and Madison. Weak eyes and ill health compelled her to relinquish teaching, and her life has been spent since in caring for invalid relatives.

Madison, Me.

LAURA N. BRACKETT, Phillips, Me.

Miss Brackett's name has appeared in all the early catalogues as "Ella Brackett," a mistake made at the time she entered the School. She has taught ten years,—seven in Maine and three at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia. Is now engaged in the millinery and fancy goods business in her native town.

Phillips, Me.

LURA BRACKETT, Phillips, Me.

Has taught about 800 weeks, two years of that time in Maine. Is now, as for several years past, Preceptress of the Academic and Normal Department of Storer College, Harper's Ferry, West Virginia. Spent part of the year 1872 studying Latin and French at Lapham Institute, Rhode Island.

Married, June 7, 1884, Scott W. Lightner of Harper's Ferry, West Virginia, a teacher who has been connected with the public schools of that State for twelve years, and is at present Principal of the Bolivar Graded School, and a member of the Examining Board of Jefferson Co.

Harper's Ferry, W. Va.

EMELINE M. BROWN, Vienna, Me.

Taught district schools in Vienna and Mt. Vernon until the fall of 1869, when she went to Anoka, Minn., where she taught two years in the graded schools. Returning to Maine in 1871, she took care of an invalid sister until her marriage, Jan. 12, 1874, to Mr. Leverett W. Bruce, a shoe manufacturer, then residing in New York. For three years they resided in Stoneham, Mass., seven years in Rochester, N. Y., and one year in Jamestown near Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.

Mr. Bruce died, May 8, 1886, leaving three children: Abby Molly, born Jan. 19, 1876; Pearl, born Feb. 21, 1881; and Percy Leverett, born Jan. 31, 1883.

Mrs. Bruce's home is now with her brother, Sewall Brown, in Canaan, Me.

RICE BROWN, Vienna, Me.

Taught one term of high school at North Vienna. Spent nine years in the northern part of California at work in the "Red Woods," and worked for some time as a ship-carpenter in Bath, Me. They have two children: Clarence Hinckley, born Sept. 9, 1876; Helen, born Oct. 9, 1879.

Mrs. Knowlton took a course of study in Latin, French and German at Westbrook Seminary before her marriage, and still keeps up her interest in all literary and educational matters. She has very largely conducted the education of her own children, and the School is very much indebted to her loyal zeal for its welfare.

Farmington, Me.

NELLIE M. KIMBALL, North New Portland, Me.

Took the Advanced Course in the Bridgewater Normal School, and taught in Calais three or four years, also in Lawrence and Boston, Mass.

Upon the establishment of the Normal School at Gorham, Jan. 19, 1879, she became one of the teachers, and remained there until her decease, Feb. 7, 1883. In his report for that year, the Principal, Hon. W. J. Corthell, speaks of her work and life in the following terms :

In November, 1882, Miss Helen M. Kimball, who had been a teacher in the school from its organization, left on account of sickness. She died in February, 1883. The school sustained in her retirement and death a very great loss. Possessing elements of character rarely united in so great measure in the same person, viz. : A remarkable power of clear logical thought and intense sympathy, she impressed all who came under her instruction in a very effective way for their good. She moulded character as well as intellect, and her pupils were better men and women, as well as better thinkers, on account of her influence. Her impress is felt in the lives of those who were under her instruction here, and it may well be said of her, that in the lives of these, her pupils, raised to nobler planes of living, by her teaching and example, "She being dead yet speaketh."

EMMA L. MERRILL, St. Albans, Me.

Taught about 150 weeks, all in Maine, in Skowhegan, Anson, St. Albans, Lewiston and other towns. Was for some years in the millinery business in Lewiston. Married, June 17, 1872, Mr. Henry K. Grammar School, then for four years was Principal of the Auburn (Me.) Grammar School, and afterwards taught two terms of high school in New Gloucester. Graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, and is enjoying an extensive and increasing practice at Auburn, where he has been located for several years. Married, March 31, 1872, Emma J. Harlow of Nashua, N. H., formerly of Livermore, Me., and at one time a member of the School. They have three children: Ethel E., born April 25, 1873; Charles E., born June 12, 1875; Annie, born July 18, 1880.

104 High Street, Auburn, Me.

CLASS OF 1871.

Sixth Class.—Graduated June 30, 1871.

JAMES W. BROWN, Milbridge, Me.

The next day after graduation he entered upon the duties of Assistant Superintendent and principal teacher in the State Reform School of Maine, where he remained nineteen months. For the next six months was principal teacher in the Michigan State Reform School. In 1873, accepted the position of Assistant Superintendent in the Minnesota Reform School at St. Paul, remaining two years and six months. He then served as Assistant Superintendent and principal teacher in the Reform School at Meriden, Conn., until the spring of 1879, when he returned to St. Paul, occupying his former position until the spring of 1886 when, on the retirement of Dr. J. G. Riheldaffer as Superintendent, he received the appointment to that position, holding it at the present time.

Married, June 29, 1878, Miss Angie D. Dresser of Maine, and has one child, May D., born Nov. 24, 1879, died Feb. 9, 1880.

St. Paul, Minn.

M. HORTENSE CHAPPELL, Carolina, R. I.

Mrs. James writes that she gave up teaching for about ten years and then resumed the business that she might instruct her own children, and is now teaching a district school near her home.

Shannock, R. I.

ANNA M. DAKIN, Jay, Me.

Has taught 150 weeks, a large part of that time in Maine. Married, Aug. 1, 1877, Sanford H. Pendleton of Sacramento, Cal., and has one child, Addie H., born June 12, 1878.

Deming, Grant Co., New Mexico.

THOMAS J. DAVIS, Newmarket, N. H.

Has taught 152 weeks,—in Augusta, Me., in 1871-2, Durham and Newmarket, N. H., in 1872-3, in the latter place a high school. In the fall of 1873 he went to Ann Arbor, Mich., to attend the Law Department of Michigan University, but owing to a temporary weakness of his eyes, he taught school at Scio, Mich., a part of the year, subsequently making up the lectures lost while teaching. At the close of the Law Term in March, 1874, the seductive wiles of a general agent of a subscription-book publishing concern sent him, for a short time, to make the acquaintance of the Michigan farmers, but he resumed his legal studies at Pontiac, Mich., with new zest after this little diversion, and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of Michigan, Aug. 25, 1874. He then taught for two years in St. Paul, Minn. From June, 1876, to June, 1887, he practiced law at Pontiac, Mich., and then removed to Duluth, Minn., where, with his partner, he has an extensive practice, making a specialty of the laws relating to railroad, mining, and banking corporations. He is a Director in the Duluth Union National Bank, and in the First National Bank of Tower, Minn.

Mr. Davis pays a handsome tribute to his old teacher, saying that "the foundation of my success is due to the personal influence and enthusiasm of Dr. Rounds."

The editor wishes to express his appreciation of several very kind letters received from Mr. Davis, while prosecuting his inquiries in regard to the history of the graduates, one in particular containing some very valuable suggestions upon the value of personal work on the part of the teacher with every pupil, and also upon the importance of encouraging Normal students to take a post-graduate, or college course.

He has married twice: July 8, 1879, Miss Juliet Bennett of Newmarket, N. H., who died June 3, 1886; Jan. 1, 1889, Mattie Clark

Mills of Mayville, Mich. He has one child, David, born Nov. 7, 1881.

Duluth, Minn.

FLORENTIUS M. HALLOWELL, Weeks' Mills, Me.

Taught fifty-six weeks in Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalboro, and forty-two weeks in a grammar school in Bath. LOVE M. NORTON, Farmington, Me.

Has taught ten years, the larger part of the time in Maine, and several terms in Illinois and Massachusetts. Has studied Latin and German and taken a part of the Chautauqua work each year since 1882. Since her marriage she has taught several terms, and, together with Mrs. E. T. Sewall, a teacher in the Normal in 1871-2, has served one term on the S. S. Committee of Farmington, where her long experience as a teacher and her Normal training enabled her to render valuable assistance in raising the Farmington schools to a higher standard of excellence. As a resident graduate she has retained a cordial interest in the success of the Normal, and the present Principal is indebted to her for many kind words and courtesies.

Married, in 1879, Mr. John C. Ames, a salesman of Farmington, and has one child, Edith, born in 1880.

Farmington, Me.

ALVIN E. PRINCE, New Sharon, Me.

Has taught 482 weeks,—twenty-four weeks of high school in his native town, where he was also a member of the S. S. Committee for one year, and the remaining time in New Jersey, where he is now teaching as Principal of the Bridgeton High and Grammar School. He is also City Examiner of teachers, a position which he has held for eight years. He has taken courses in German, French and Latin with private teachers, and one year of Physical Culture under Dr. D. A. Sargent at Harvard.

76 Walnut Street, Bridgeton, N. J.

ELVA M. REED, Livermore Centre, Me.

Taught eleven years in the primary, intermediate and grammar grades in Lewiston. Married, Dec. 2, 1882, Mr. Edward Pratt, a farmer of Strickland's Ferry, and has one child, Charles H., born Oct. 15, 1885.

Strickland's Ferry, Me.

MARIA M. SHAW, West's Mills, Me.

Soon after graduating she went to Eau Claire, Wis., where she taught forty weeks. In August following, she went to Rochester, Minn., where she had secured a fine position, but was attacked with typhoid fever a few days before her term was to commence, and died, Sept. 4, 1872.

FREELAN O. STANLEY, Kingfield, Me.

Has taught about eight years. For the first year after graduation, he taught district schools in Andover, Farmington and Lisbon. In the summer of 1872 he began to fit for college at Hebron Academy and entered Bowdoin in the fall of 1873, where he remained one year. Was Principal of the Mechanic Falls High School for several terms, and then taught in Columbia, Penn., for some time. In 1880 he accepted a position in the Normal, where he remained over a year, resigning on account of failing health to go into some less sedentary occupation. For two or three years he was a manufacturer of school supplies and apparatus, some of which he had invented, at Mechanic Falls, and Boston, Mass. In connection with his twin brother, Frank E., at one time a member of the School, he discovered and perfected a superior process of coating photographic "dry plates," by which, current rumor says, they have made a handsome fortune. They have an immense manufactory and a constantly increasing business. He married, April 18, 1876, Miss Flora J. R. Tileston of Mechanic Falls.

Lewiston, Me.

J. WALTER STETSON, East Sumner, Me.

Taught about 675 weeks,—district schools in Livermore, Dennysville, Sumner, Buckfield and Oxford, until the summer of 1874, when he entered the "College Preparatory" class at Hebron Academy, but left after a few weeks to accept a position as assistant in the Normal. Here he remained nearly, or quite, a year, and then resigned to become Principal of the Calais Grammar School, where he remained ten years. Having been elected Master of the Ash Street Grammar School, Manchester, N. H., he left Calais to the great regret of a large circle of friends. After nearly five years of very successful work in that school, he resigned to accept the office of Treasurer of the Mechanics Savings Bank, Auburn, Me.

Mr. Stetson has completed the Chautauqua Course, receiving a special seal for high rank. Has taken an earnest and patriotic interest in politics, and was Warden of his ward in Calais for several years. Has taken an active interest in educational matters, and has been President of the Washington Co. (Me.) Teachers' Association, and Treasurer of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association. In June, 1888, he was elected a deacon of the First Congregational Church in Manchester, and was for some time Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday School connected with that church.

Married, Dec. 23, 1879, Miss Agnes Halliday of Calais, and has four children: Mary Louise, born Nov. 29, 1880; Lilla Augusta, born Nov. 13, 1882; Everett Halliday, born April 18, 1886; Agnes Gertrude, born June 21, 1888.

MYRA A. WHITNEY, Strong, Me.

Has taught about 400 weeks. After teaching four years in Calais in the intermediate and third grammar grades, she resigned in March, 1876. In the fall of that year she obtained a position in Westboro, Mass., in the third grammar grade, where she remained until the fall of 1878, when she was elected to a position in Melrose, and was promoted to the first grammar grade, holding that position during the remainder of her teaching. While in Melrose she availed herself of the advantages of the Massachusetts Normal Art School, receiving the highest grade of diploma awarded to evening students. Married, Nov. 30, 1882, Mr. F. C. Reed of Astoria, Oregon, whose business has been salmon canning until two years ago, when he was appointed President of the Board of Fish Commissioners for the State, and has since devoted his time to the artificial propagation of salmon in the waters of the Columbia River.

Present address, 3 Marion Street, Salem, Oregon; home address, Astoria, Oregon.

SECOND CLASS OF 1872.

Eighth Class.— Graduated June 28, 1872.

MARIANA BAILEY, Farmington, Me.

Has taught 277 weeks, all in mixed schools in Maine, "believing," as she says, "that trained teachers are more needed in those schools than in others." She has had, we are told, the best of success. Besides other towns, she has taught in Farmington, Phillips, Lisbon, Pownal, Yarmouth, Waterville, Saco and New Gloucester. Although she has not taken any course of study, she has been a constant student and reader of pedagogical books and papers. Like many others, she adds that she owes very much to Dr. Rounds for whatever success she has had, and that the influence of his hearty words is with her yet. Jan. 1, 1883, she married Mr. Albert Caswell, a farmer of New Sharon, where they have since resided. They have one child, Frank P., born April 2, 1884.

New Sharon, Me.

ANGIE L. BOOTHBY, North Limington, Me.

Has taught forty-four weeks, in Lisbon, Gorham, and Fall River, Mass. Completes this year the Chautauqua Course. Married, Aug. 8, 1872, William R. Smith of Farmington, a carpenter and master builder. They have two children: Helen Gertrude, born May 7, 1876; Hariph Mayhew, born April 18, 1882.

43 Cambridge Street, Fall River, Mass.

CARRIE A. CARGILL, Augusta, Me.

Has taught about ninety weeks, mostly in the city of Augusta. A growing deafness compelled her to give up teaching in 1876, and for the last eight years she has been further incapacitated for work by an accident. Has done some literary work.

247 Prospect Street Annex, New Haven, Conn.

CELIA E. CLEMENT, Smithfield, Me.

From the report of 1874, we find that she had taught four terms in Skowhegan, and was then a book-keeper in Augusta. Since then she has learned telegraphy, and in 1886 was in charge of the telegraph department in Victoria Hotel, New York. Married, Feb. 25, 1889, William J. Hayes of Cleveland, Ohio.

705 Prospect Street, Cleveland, Ohio.

CLARA A. FORBES, Paris, Me.

The two years following her graduation were spent as a teacher in the Normal Department of the Maine Central Institute at Pittsfield. Has been a member of the Boston Home Study Society four years and belonged to the Chautauqua Society of Fine Arts one year. Married, May 28, 1874, Alden E. Bessey, M. D., of Centre Sidney and has one daughter, Lenora, born June 11, 1876. A step son, Merton W., is a member of the last (1889) graduating class, and another, Earle E., is a member of the School.

Centre Sidney, Me.

ELIZA S. GETCHELL, Belgrade Mills, Me.

Miss Getchell has taught the grammar grade continuously, with the exception of one year in the rural schools, since her graduation,—two years in Bath, three years in Lewiston, five years in Portland, seven years in Cambridge, Mass., where she is now teaching.

2 River Street, Cambridgeport, Mass.

WILLIAM E. GORHAM, Windsor, Me.

Over 200 weeks in mixed, grammar and high schools in Calais, Augusta, Windsor, Bristol, Jefferson and other Maine towns has been Dr. Gorham's experience, besides doing more or less of a great many other things. Pursued medical studies while connected with the Normal and graduated from a New York medical college in 1873. In 1875, was managing physician of the Green Mountain Home for Invalids, and then was Principal of the High School at West Concord, Vt. Returning to Maine, he practiced medicine in Windsor, where he was also Supervisor of Schools for several years. Was a candidate for member of the Legislature, receiving a handsome majority in his own town, but failed of election by reason of an adverse vote in the other towns classed with his. Not liking his practice, after one or two commercial ventures, he studied dentistry in 1884, which, together with surgery, he has practiced since. Literary work has also had charms for him, and he has wooed and won the Muses. In 1882, he married Miss Aura E. Andrews of South Bristol, and has four children: Grace A.; Winnie E.; W. Victor; and Alfred E.

East Jefferson, Me.

CHARLES A. HARRINGTON, Parkman, Me.

Has taught 132 weeks,—high and grammar in Solon, two terms; high school two terms, and grammar one term, at South Waterford; and two terms of grammar school at South Yarmouth, Mass. Attended Hebron Academy one term in the summer of 1873, and Maine Central Institute at Pittsfield the following year. Read law at Norridgewock in the office of Hon. S. D. Lindsey, M. C. from the Third District. Admitted to practice at the September Term of the Supreme Court in Somerset County in 1877, and was Mr. Lindsey's partner until his (Mr. Lindsey's) death in April, 1884. Was Chairman of the Board of Selectmen from 1879 to 1885, and member of the House in the Legislature of 1887.

Married, Nov. 5, 1878, Jeannette A. Merrill of Solon, Me., and has one child, Pauline M., born Nov. 12, 1879.

South Norridgewock, Me.

ALDANA C. HATCH, Minot, Me.

Has taught 150 weeks, all in Auburn. Married, June 24, 1877, John G. Roberts of Auburn, Class of 1867. Finding that manual labor was much more remunerative than teaching, she has for several years been a stitcher in a shoe manufactory.

37 Seventh Street, Auburn, Me.

AUGUSTA A. HOLLEY, Farmington, Me.

Taught in Lisbon thirty weeks, in the Bridgton Grammar School one hundred weeks, and twelve weeks in the Farmington Grammar School. Married, June 15, 1875, Mr. George E. Murphy of Bridgton, and died Jan. 23, 1883, leaving two children: Charles L., born March 9, 1876; Augusta H., born Jan. 20, 1883.

GEORGIA F. HOWE, Greene, Me.

Taught one year in Lewiston. Has received a diploma from the C. L. S. C. Is now Librarian of the Young Women's Reading Room.

Corner Main and High Streets, Lewiston, Me.

LOUIE A. LELAND, North Jay, Me.

Has taught 300 weeks, in Farmington, Jay, Naples, Bridgton and Deering. Married, Aug. 19, 1879, Mr. Caleb Montgomery of Woodfords, and has five children: Carroll Leland, born Jan. 14, 1881; S. Margaret, born Nov. 12, 1883; Andrew Emerson, born Oct. 4, 1885; Frederic Blake, born March 16, 1887; Mary Julia, born Sept. 27, 1888.

Central Avenue, Woodfords, Me.

WILLIAM H. NEWELL, West Durham, Me.

After graduation he took the Classical Course at the Maine Wesleyan Seminary. Has taught 234 weeks,—one term in Freeport, three in Durham, and six years as Principal of the Brunswick Grammar School. From personal knowledge, having taught three years in the same building with him, the editor feels justified in saying he had no superior in the State as a grammar school master. He was earnest, sufficiently enthusiastic, and an excellent disciplinarian. Studied law with Weston Thompson, Esq., of Brunswick, and since his admission to the bar has practiced in Lewiston, where he has built up an excellent practice and won an honorable place at the bar by his ability and integrity. Was the Democratic candidate for Mayor in the spring of 1889. Married, Sept. 20, 1883, Ida F. Plummer of Lisbon Falls, Me., and has one child, Augusta Plummer, born March 17, 1887.

49 College Street, Lewiston, Me.

LIZZIE H. NORTON, Farmington, Me.

Few of the graduates can claim a longer or more honorable record as teachers. From four years of age until her marriage, she was in school, as scholar and teacher, without a term's vacation, and, although she lived two miles from the Normal, and walked to and from school, she completed the course in two years, without being absent from a recitation of her class.

She taught one year in Lisbon, one in Turner, eight years in Lewiston (primary and grammar), and four years in one of the Portland grammar schools,—516 weeks in all. The historian well recalls the regret expressed by the friends of the schools at her departure from Lewiston. Married, July 20, 1886, Mr. George F. French, a bookseller of Portland.

99 High Street, Portland, Me.

HERBERT PATTEN, West Falmouth, Me.

Has taught about 540 weeks,—two years in Maine, three years in Ohio, and the remaining time in California. Is Principal of the Grammar School, Redlands, Cal. Married, Jan. 22, 1879, Miss Mary A. Hobbs of West Falmouth, Me.

Redlands, Cal.

DICEA S. PIERPONT, Livermore Falls, Me.

Has taught forty weeks, in Farmington, Livermore, Lisbon, East Livermore and Lewiston. Married, Nov. 23, 1873, Winfield S. Treat of Livermore Falls, and has two children: George W., born July 21, 1875; Edith Louise, born Dec. 27, 1886.

FRED E. C. ROBBINS, Winthrop, Me.

Has taught nearly 500 weeks. In 1872-3 he taught a high school in Newport, and a mixed school in Bath. From 1873 to 1878, he was Principal of the Westbrook High School, and from 1878 to 1887, Principal of the Deering High School. Since leaving the profession he has been Supervisor of Schools in Deering, and on the editorial staff of the Portland Evening Express. Married, Dec. 15, 1875, his classmate, Lizzie A. Rogers of Richmond, and has two children: Harry Chandler, and Floyd Rogers.

Woodfords, Me.

LIZZIE A. ROGERS, Richmond, Me.

Has taught over 100 weeks, in Richmond, Lisbon and Yarmouth, in the high schools in the first and last named places. Married, Dec. 15, 1875, her classmate, Fred E. C. Robbins, Principal of the Westbrook High School, and has two children. (See above).

Woodfords, Me.

HERBERT E. STETSON, East Sumner, Me.

Has taught 270 weeks. Is now a book-keeper in Earlville, Iowa. Married, June 17, 1879, Miss Hattie E. Smith of that place, and has four children: Eugene J., born Dec. 25, 1880; Ralph H., born Aug. 1, 1883; Ruth A., born Aug. 24, 1886; Edna F., born Sept. 11, 1888.

Earlville, Iowa.

J. FRANK STEVENS, West Gardiner, Me.

Taught twenty weeks in Westport and Manchester, Me. Is now a Civil Engineer in Minnesota.

3217 Lindley Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

LEWIS A. THOMAS, East Rumford, Me.

Went to Illinois in August, 1872, and has been teaching or superintending schools in that State ever since. Has passed the examination and holds the Illinois State Diploma, which licenses him to teach anywhere in the State and is good for life. Is now Superintendent of Schools at La Salle. Married, Aug. 19, 1875, Marianna Reed of Mexico, Me., and has one son, Lewis A., Jr., born May 19, 1880.

La Salle, Ill.

LIZZIE C. TRUE, Hope, Me.

Has taught in Camden and Hope. Married, May 1, 1878, Mr. Lewis Augustine Spear of Rockport, who died April 20, 1887. She has three children: Harold A., born May 4, 1879; Louise N., born Jan. 24, 1884; La Forest T., born Oct. 6, 1885.

Rockport, Me.

THOMAS VARNEY, Windham, Me.

Has never taught, but has been engaged in the lumber business ever since his graduation. Has devoted considerable time to Ancient History and Bible study. Has held some of the minor town offices and is a Justice of the Peace and Quorum. Married, Oct. 7, 1876, Florence M. Goodrich of Farmington, and has three children: Lewis Goodrich, born Dec. 8, 1877; Leona Berard, born May 27, 1880, died July 14, 1880; Perley Wood, born Aug. 7, 1881.

Windham, Me.

CLINTON A. WOODBURY, Sweden, Me.

Has taught 178 weeks, in Waterford, Bridgton, Springfield and Dennysville, all high schools except in Bridgton. Taught the Dennysville High School four and one-half years. After teaching three years, he was editor of the Somerset Reporter for three and a half years, then went back to teaching for two years. For several years he has been in the insurance business, and is now Manager of the United States Life Insurance Co. for Maine. Is a frequent contributor to the press, and, as he writes, "frequently preaches for tired ministers." He is also a member of the S. S. Committee of Deering.

Married, June 2, 1876, Ida Sumner Vose of Dennysville, and has four children: Carl Vose, born August, 1877; Donald Clinton, born Sept. 30, 1879; Malcolm Sumner, born March 27, 1881; Ruth Lincoln, born Feb. 25, 1889.

Woodfords, Me.

LEWIS F. WORTHLEY, Farmington, Me.

As no reply to several circulars and letters has been received, we have to depend on friends for whatever information we can give in regard to Dr. Worthley. He was teacher of Vocal Music in the Normal one year. Studied medicine in Pennsylvania and graduated from the Medical Department of Columbia College, N. Y. Practiced in Glasgow, Pa., and is now in Fiske, Pa. Is married and has one child, Clyde, about five years of age.

To Mrs. Ada Floyd Smith of the Class of 1867 we are indebted for the following memorial:

In the summer of 1887, Mrs. Floyd, with her three children, visited her friends in Maine. At her home in Murphy's, she was universally loved and respected. A friend writing home says: "At the time of her death the house was filled with wreaths, anchors, and crosses of flowers until there was literally room for no more, brought by those who thus tried to express their sympathy with the relatives and their own sense of personal loss. As the long procession of friends and school children filed past the open grave the casket was covered with the bouquets thrown in, and many eyes were wet at the thought that they should see her no more on earth."

Mrs. Floyd left three children: Albion E., born Sept. 3, 1878; Evelyn F., born April 2, 1880; Winthrop T., born Aug. 6, 1885.

CALVIN F. STANLEY, Kingfield, Me.

Taught one year after graduating, one term of grammar school and two terms of high school in Minot. In the fall of 1874 he entered the Normal School at Bridgewater, Mass., and graduated from the Advanced Course in 1876. Was appointed principal of a grammar school in Washington, D. C., where he remained but one year, being obliged to resign on account of poor health. He then went to Galesville, Wis., where he remained one year, teaching part of the time. From there he went to Waterville, Kan., where he spent his time teaching and as the editor of a local paper. He died with consumption March 6, 1883.

From the Farmington Chronicle we take the following tribute to his memory, written by his friend, Fred W. Craig, First Class of 1874 :

We were intimate for over two years in Farmington, and then were together constantly day and night at Bridgewater, Mass., where Mr. Stanley took the Classical Course in the Normal School. After that we kept up our intimacy by visits and correspondence, and I can truly say that he was as noble, upright, honest, and steadfast a man as ever I knew. The news of his death from consumption in a foster State, away from every relative and old-time friend, comes to us with unusual pathos; but he had many friends in Kansas, where he had lived since 1878, and had been principal of the public schools, then editor of the home paper, and later, also the music teacher of the village. He was a true and worthy man in every sense, and many a friend will long mourn his early death.

EUGENE C. STEVENS, West Gardiner, Me.

Taught four years in Maine,—two years in grammar and high school grades, at Westport and Oakland. Was Principal of the schools in LeRoy, Minn., four years, Superintendent of Schools in Alamosa, Colo., for six years, and has held for two years past the same position in Central City, Colo. Has been Deputy County Superintendent, and President of the Board of Trade at Alamosa.

Married, Dec. 25, 1875, Miss Hattie U. Parlin of East Winthrop. Central City, Colo.

FIRST CLASS OF 1874.

CLASS OF 1885.

Thirty-first Class.—Graduated June 11, 1885.

MARTHA P. ADAMS, East Deering, Me.

Was a graduate of the Deering High School and taught twenty weeks before graduation. After that, taught six weeks in the Deering High School, when her health failed, and she was obliged to resign. She was an excellent scholar and admirably fitted to teach, and, could she have lived, would have been very successful. Her death occurred Sept. 22, 1887.

NORA M. BEEDY, Farmington, Me.

Taught 23 weeks,—one term ungraded school and one term in the primary school in Farmington, and one term in the primary grade in Camden. Was a clerk for a short time in the winter of 1886-7, and was engaged to teach in the primary grade in Farmington for the year 1887-8, but resigned on account of her health, and went to Minneapolis, where she died April 8, 1888. She was singularly winning, and a great favorite with all with whom she came in contact, especially with children. Her great ambition was to be a successful primary teacher, for which she had many qualifications.

From the columns of the Farmington Chronicle we take the following tribute :

It is fitting that more than a passing notice should be given to the death of one who had so large a place in the heart of her friends. It is not quite three years since Nora graduated from the Normal School and, selected by her class, delivered the valedictory essay. She was always pleasant and cheerful, doing her work faithfully and honestly, and always earnest to improve every opportunity. Her sunny and lovable nature won the love of all her teachers and schoolmates. In the next triennial catalogue the first three names of the Class of '85 will have the "fatal asterisk," three who were warm friends here, for a little while separated, now united. With them, indeed, "Death is the crown of life." The subject of Nora's valedictory was, "Gude nicht and joy be wi' you a'." It seems prophetic now, and I doubt not the last thought she had of her classmates was "good night"—"good night" to them, while she heard from angel voices a glad "good morning"—"and joy be with you all."

CARRIE B. COFFIN, Harrington, Me.

During the last part of her second year in school, her health failed rapidly, yet such was her strength of purpose and mental vigor that she graduated with her class, in many respects the finest scholar in it. If her life had been spared, she could not have failed to be a brilliant teacher. But it was not to be. After a short sickness, borne in all sweetness and serenity, she exchanged one home for another, Jan. 23, 1886. The following tribute from the pen of an appreciative friend and Miss May's poem are taken from the columns of the Farmington Chronicle:

Though many of us felt, when our pupil and friend graduated last June, that, though with us, she was not of us, still we hoped that one so well fitted for life in every way might be spared to the world and her friends for many years, and the news that she had passed to the higher life brought to us all a sense of loss and deep sorrow. As a pupil her work was always faithfully, thoroughly, and honestly done. To an intellect remarkably clear and acute, she added a character of singular purity and sweetness. She seemed never to have had a selfish or an unkind thought. In its goodness and purity her life was a lofty ideal, a Christian ideal. For her, we may be sure, the coming of the "guest divine" who took her from her home,—“two angels coming out where but one went in,”—was but an incident of life, a summons to a brighter chamber of her King. To her it was but a change in life, but to us, "God's finger touched her and she slept." It was a beautiful conceit of the Greeks to speak of the departed as "those who have been weary." How true of our departed friend! And equally true is the Christian sentiment, "He giveth his beloved sleep."

GOD KNOWS WHY.

IN MEMORIAM.

My darling! On the flash of lightning sped
 The news too quickly, "She you love is dead."
 I hastened homeward as if you were there;
 Only the lovely robe you used to wear,
 Only a pure white form that held no more
 Your blessed spirit, lay inside the door;
 Only an angel face whose close shut eyes
 Moved not but seemed to look beyond the skies.
 Darling! I cried, oh wherefore must you die?
 A whisper seemed to answer, "God knows why."
 Yes, God knows why, but to my feeble sight
 'Tis deepest darkness with no glimpse of light.
 I miss you so, at morning, noon and eve,
 And cannot think 'tis wrong for me to grieve;
 I miss you, and I want you every hour.
 The song has lost its sweetness and the flower
 Has lost its fragrance, and the evening prayer
 Unanswered falls upon the pulseless air,
 Because you join not, and I vainly try
 To stop my tears, and whisper, "God knows why."

He knows, and sometime I shall surely know
 The reason why; and yet the teardrops flow
 Unbidden, as your tenderness I miss,
 And long, my darling, for your vanished kiss.
He knows, and sometime I shall plainly hear
 The blessed reason echoing in my ear.
 Perhaps some danger lay along your road,
 Some fearful trouble or some heavy load
 For you to bear, and so, my dear, I'll try
 To murmur, "It is best, for God knows why."

FIRST ALUMNI MEETING.

June 6, 1867.

The graduates of the Farmington Normal School, feeling that they were not willing that the pleasant ties here formed should be entirely severed, met at Normal Hall, Wednesday A. M., June 5, 1867, for the purpose of forming an Association. Chose a committee of which A. P. Tukey, '67, was chairman, to draft a Constitution and By-Laws. In the evening of that day the committee reported the following Constitution and By-Laws, which were adopted article by article.

CONSTITUTION.

PREAMBLE.

We, the graduates of the Farmington Normal School, being unwilling that the pleasant associations we have formed should be entirely broken, each of us being isolated from the rest, and wishing further that some plan may be devised so that our reunions may be both pleasant and profitable to us and the School, do organize ourselves into an Association, through whose channels we may learn of one another's welfare, and we do adopt the following as our Constitution :

ARTICLE I. This Association shall be known as the Farmington Normal Association, and its meetings shall be held on the day of the graduation exercises of each spring term.

ART. II. The officers of this Association shall consist of a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Assistant Secretary and Executive Committee, who shall be chosen by ballot at each annual meeting of the Association.

ART. III. It shall be the duty of the President to preside over all meetings of the Association and to superintend the disbursement of its funds.

ART. IV. In the absence of the President, his duties shall devolve on the Vice-President.

ART. V. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to collect all the funds of the Association and expend the same on the written order of the President.

ART. VI. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep the records of the meetings of the Association, and answer all letters of inquiry in regard to the situation of members, and to notify all members at least one month before the meetings of the Association.

ART. VII. During the absence of the Secretary, his duties shall devolve on the Assistant Secretary.

ART. VIII. It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to prepare an Order of Exercises and report at each regular meeting.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I. Each member of this Association binds himself to report to the Secretary, his residence, occupation, compensation for teaching, whether married or single, at least two months before the annual meeting of the Association.

ART. II. Each member also binds himself to report each change in his residence, occupation and compensation, if teaching, as soon, and as often as such change shall occur.

ART. III. Five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ART. IV. At the request of the Principal of the Normal School, the Secretary shall give to him any information in regard to the situation of members which may be in his possession.

AMENDMENTS.

I. The officers of this Association shall consist of a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and one Assistant Secretary from each graduating class, who shall be chosen by ballot. (June 2, 1869).

II. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a true record of the meetings of the Association and of the reports of the Assistant Secretaries, and to inform the Assistant Secretaries of the time of the meeting of the Association. (June 2, 1869).

III. It shall be the duty of the Assistant Secretaries to answer all letters of inquiry in regard to the situation of members of their respective classes, notify them at least one month before the meetings of the Association, and to forward their reports to the Secretary as soon as possible. (June 2, 1869).

IV. The name of this Association shall be the Farmington Normal Alumni Association. (June 2, 1870).

The following officers were elected:

President, R. Woodbury, '67; Vice-President, C. A. Boston, '67; Secretary, J. A. Sweet, '67; Assistant Secretary, Miss H. B. Stewart, '66; Treasurer, Edmund Hayes, '67.

CONSTITUTION.

PREAMBLE.

We, the graduates of the Western State Normal School, wishing to advance the interests of our profession and to strengthen the ties that bind us as fellow-workers, agree to adopt the following Constitution :

ARTICLE I. This Association shall be known as the Western State Normal School Association, and its meetings shall be held at the close of each third school year.

ART. II. The officers of the Association shall consist of a President, two Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Secretary, and an Executive Committee of three, who shall be chosen by ballot at each triennial meeting of the Alumni.

ART. III.—Section 1. The duties of the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretary, shall be such as usually devolve on such officers.

Section 2. It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to arrange the exercises for the meetings of the Alumni, which shall consist of an Oration, a Poem, a Social Reunion, and such other exercises as they may think proper.

ART. IV. This Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting.

BY-LAWS.

ART. I. All graduates of the Western State Normal School shall be considered members of this Association.

ART. II. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to notify all members of the Association of the time of its meetings, and to obtain from them as far as possible such information as may be of use.

ART. III. Thirteen members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ART. IV. At the request of the Principal of the Western State Normal School, the Secretary shall give to him such information in regard to members as may be in his possession.

ART. V. The expense of the meetings of this Association shall be defrayed by a direct tax assessed by a Finance Committee, at each meeting, on all, or on such a portion of the Alumni, as they may think best. Said tax shall be collected by the Treasurer.

ART. VI. These By-Laws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting.

After the adoption of the above Constitution, Mr. A. P. Kelsey was introduced and gave the early history of the School, including its establishment, and the first year of its growth when he was Principal.

Mr. R. Woodbury, '67, followed and spoke of the three years of the School when it was under the principalship of Mr. George M. Gage.

Principal C. C. Rounds then took up the narrative, bringing the history down to the tenth year of the School.

The following officers were elected for the next three years:

The following resolutions have been received from the Committee:

WHEREAS, The Alumni Association of the Farmington State Normal School in regular meeting assembled at Farmington, Me., on this 14th day of June, A. D. 1889, being impressed with the importance of recording a tribute of respect to the memory of its members who have been taken from us by the hand of death since our last meeting,

Resolved, That this Association learns with sorrow of the death of Roliston Woodbury, Class '67, John W. Bixby, Class '68, Mary D. Bicknell (Mrs. Paul), Class '68, S. Evelyn Tarbox (Mrs. St. Clair), Class '69, Clara F. Elliot (Mrs. Floyd), 2d Class '73, Jennie S. Furbush (Mrs. Blanchard), 2d Class '74, William J. Drew, 2d Class '75, Stella B. Collins, 2d Class '76, Angie G. Yeaton, 1st Class '77, Lizzie M. Prescott, 1st Class '78, L. Maria Knight, 2d Class '78, Adelaide E. Smart, Class '81, Martha P. Adams, Nora M. Beedy, and Carrie B. Coffin, Class '85, Alice R. Cummings, Class '86, Myrtie P. Folsom, Class '87, each and all of whom were held in esteem by this Association.

Resolved, That we especially mourn the death of our brother, Roliston Woodbury, whose life as a student and teacher in our Alma Mater was that of the diligent, earnest searcher after truth, and the careful, painstaking instructor; that his earnest efforts at all times in behalf of this Association, as its Secretary, are remembered with gratitude. That in his death we lose an officer ever faithful to his duties, a member ever active for the good of the Association. A patient, persevering student, a kind and faithful teacher, a true friend to the cause of Education, and an upright Christian man has gone to his reward. That, while we mourn his loss, we commend his character as a fit example for all to follow.

Resolved, That we extend to our brother, Ashley St. Clair, our deep sympathy in his affliction, and assure him of our appreciation of the estimable character of his late wife who was herself a member of our Association.

Resolved, That we extend to our brother, Enos F. Floyd, our deep sympathy in his affliction, and assure him of our appreciation of the estimable character of his late wife, who was herself a member of our Association.

Resolved, That while we remember the dead, it is fitting that the living be not forgotten.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Association are due to Prin. Geo. C. Purington for his patient labor in collecting and presenting so full a history of our membership, and for his many acts of thoughtful care, whereby our meeting has been rendered pleasant, entertaining and profitable.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the family of our late brother Woodbury, to brother St. Clair, to brother Floyd, to Prin. Geo. C. Purington, and that they also be printed in the Farmington Chronicle and spread upon the records of our Association.
